CAPT. RICHMOND HOBSON THRILLS HEARERS

Astounding Facts Presented on Drug Evil, Quick Action Result

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Narcotic Menace Thrillingly Presented by Hobson

THE menace of the narcotic problem was presented in a forcible manner last evening to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce by Captain Richard P. Hobson.

Glendale is indeed fortunate in having the opportunity of hearing Capt. Hobson. No one is better qualified than he to talk of this evil.

That he was able to convince the chamber directorate of the seriousness of the problem was demonstrated by the board taking immediate action. The plan adopted is covered in the news article regarding the meeting.

Very few persons recognize the real menace to our nation in the use of morphine, heroin and cocaine.

Drugs have been in general use in medical circles for some time, for the purpose of relieving human suffering. Morphine was first isolated from opium in 1820 and cocaine was first distilled from cocoa leaves in 1884.

Heroin, which is made from morphine, was not discovered until 1898 and did not come into general use in the United States until 1909. In medical circles morphine, especially, plays such an important part that one physician has said that "without it few physicians would be callous enough to practice medicine."

THE continued use of these drugs sets up an intense craving which is only relieved by a further administration. The Federal Government reports that the continued use of these drugs for a period of 10 to 30 days is sufficient to establish addiction.

It does not matter whether the drugs are administered as medicine or taken through idle curiosity, addiction is sure to follow in the course of a month.

FOUR years ago the treasury department reported that over a million persons in the United States were known to be addicted to the use of narcotic drugs. Recently this department issued a statement that the number of addicts has increased until today one person in every 73 in this country is known to be an addict.

While it is not possible to know definitely how many addicts there are in the United States it is an established fact that more narcotic drugs are consumed in this country in proportion to its population than in any other nation on the globe.

IT is time for Glendale to take notice of this growing evil, for by taking the government figures for the known addicts we have right in our midst more than 500 addicts.

The history of the drug habit is such as to force us to realize that if something radical is not done soon it will get beyond our control.

THE market for a product can be destroyed in only two ways: First, by cutting off the supply; second, by killing the demand.

The first has been found impracticable on account of its use to allay suffering but the killing of the demand can be done. The best way to destroy the demand is to educate the people as to the harmful effects of these narcotic drugs. Any sane individual with a knowledge of the harm which follows in the wake of the drug traffic would lend his hearty support to its suppression. It is to be hoped that the committee appointed to further this movement of education will be received with assurance of hearty support, both financially and otherwise.

WRECK SURVIVOR NOW IN GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Scharnikow of 318 West Harvard returned yesterday from San Diego where they went for the festivities attendant upon the eclipse. Returning from there with them were Mrs. Maude Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schrock. Mr. Schrock was on the U. S. S. Woodbury when the destroyers went on the rocks. Mr. Schrock, who was on watch, saw the Young go over and just then the Woodbury struck. Men with ropes jumped over on the rocks and with four lines steadied the ship. No lives were lost on the Woodbury, but the men sat out on the rocks all night waiting for relief. Mr. Schrock's term in the navy expired two days after the disaster occurred. Mrs. Scharnikow's house guests will be in Glendale two weeks.

ORIOLES TO START ORDER IN GLENDALE

A branch of the Oriole fraternal organization is soon to be established in Glendale.

Edgar E. Blackwell, state organizer for the association, and T. W. Hall, who will have charge of the formation of the Glendale order, were in this city this morning for the purpose of looking over the ground. After a general survey of the field they claim that nowhere in Southern California are the prospects brighter for a thriving branch than right here in Glendale.

"The Orioles," says Mr. Blackwell "is a national organization. It is 14 years old and in its 212 branches there are 143,000 members, all of whom are working for the order, its members and the communities in which they live."

The Orioles are comparatively new in California, although the entire east is honeycombed with the order. Already there are in this state lodges in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Santa Monica, Inglewood, Sawtelle and Culver City.

Mr. Hall, the local organizer, is locating in Glendale, and expects to make his home here.

"We are confident that Glendale is a real Oriole town," said Mr. Hall this morning. "The Orioles are a live bunch, and for this and other reasons they will, I am sure have a real good time in Glendale."

A few of the reasons for the existence of the Orioles lodge are as follows:

The Fraternal Order of Orioles is built, its promoters state, on the foundation stones of liberty, integrity, fraternity and equality, and its purpose is to promote morality, higher living. It advocates the upbuilding of the home community and its object is to lessen the burdens and increase the prosperity of its members.

One feature of the order is the free vocational training school for children of deceased members. It has inaugurated a building plan to build and maintain a school of this kind.

Some of the requisites for membership of this order are—You must be a Caucasian, not less than 18 years of age, a reputable citizen, a believer in the Supreme Being, a defender of the flag of this country.

Following are a few facts concerning the Order of Orioles:

Orioles is a national patriotic, protective organization.

Orioles is a non-sectarian order. Orioles take an obligation to trade with each other.

Orioles patronize home industries.

Orioles are active in civic and community welfare work.

Orioles will assist you in obtaining employment.

Orioles have a representative form of government.

Orioles provide a burial fund for deceased members.

Orioles provide a sick and accident fund for members.

Orioles provide for free medical attendance for members.

Orioles dues are nominal.

During the formation of this lodge the initiation fee will be $10, but this will be increased to $25 after the charter is closed.

GRADE CROSSINGS TO BE DISCUSSED TOMORROW

Kenilworth, Concord and Justin Are Streets Considered

A committe of interested county, auto club and railroad officials will meet in Glendale at 9 o'clock Thursday morning for the purpose of deciding whether or not grade crossings should be placed over the Pacific Electric tracks at Kenilworth, Concord and Justin. On this committee are Mr. Pontius, general traffic manager of the Pacific Electric company; Mr. Bolen, an engineer of the same company; Fletcher Pomeroy, secretary of the Regional Planning commission; Mr. Dallin of the same commission, and representatives of the Automobile Club of Southern California. This committee was appointed at a luncheon held at the headquarters of the Auto Club Tuesday afternoon, and which was attended by Assistant City Attorney Leslie Tarr.

Mr. Tarr stated this morning that the reason the crossings were asked for was the great distance between present crossings at those points. It is 5800 feet between Grand View and Pacific, and the idea is to cut this distance in half by placing a crossing at Kenilworth. The other crossings are desired for the same reason.

The following letter, stating the position and contension of the city of Glendale, was sent the Automobile Club of Southern California by Assistant City Attorney Tarr recently:

"The three crossings are, we feel, absolutely essential for the convenience for the residents of that district. The section referred to is growing very rapidly and is fast becoming one of the most popular high-class residential districts. There are very few crossings accessible in that district and it is the plan of the city of Glendale in connection with two of the streets to construct bridges across what is known as Verdugo wash, thereby connecting the northern section with Glendale proper. The Pacific Electric railway tracks over which we are seeking grade crossings are those running from Glendale to Burbank. The number of trains running daily is limited, and we feel that the convenience of the people of that section greatly outweighs the possibility of danger. We believe that the residents of that district are unanimous in their desire to have these grade crossings established at Kenilworth, Concord and Justin.

"I have been informed by our city engineer that it is practically impossible to construct a subway crossing because of the lack of drainage in flood times. Overhead crossings are very much objected to because of the consequent decrease in the value of adjacent property."

FATHER, THREE SONS IN UNUSUAL MASONIC EVENT

Glendale will be the scene of a very unusual Masonic event next Saturday afternoon, viz: the conferring of the Royal Arch degree upon six candidates, four of whom are a father and his three sons, the ceremony to take place in "God's own temple, in Sycamore canyon.

Chapters that will participate in this most unusual affair will be Los Angeles chapter, Sigmet, Eastgate and Southgate chapters. The conferring of the degree will be followed by a barbecue dinner.

When Mattison B. Jones of this city was grand high priest in 1921, he gave a dispensation to the Stockton Royal Arch chapter to confer the Royal Arch degree in the open. His dispensation was approved by the grand chapter, and he had the honor of attending the function which drew visitors from many communities, Mr. Jones having been the first grand high priest to grant such a dispensation.

The grand lodge met in Stockton last April and the chapter had arranged for another session in the open, but rain prevented the carrying out of the plan to the great disappointment of many Masons. Greater interest will therefore attach to this session which will, however, be opened and closed in the chapter room in Masonic temple. Hundreds will be in attendance including many from Glendale.

CAPT. RICHMOND HOBSON PRESENTS ASTOUNDING FACTS ON NARCOTIC EVIL

Facts and Figures Given, Struck Terror Into Hearts of Parents Present as Terrible Danger Threatening Their Children Was Explained

NATION IS FACED BY AWFUL CATASTROPHE

Speaker Says Use of Narcotics in America Exceeds That of Any Other Country and That New Drug, More Powerful Than Heroin, Discovered

The big business transacter by the directorate of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday evening was put through at an hour close to midnight and was a vote to financially indorse and support the campaign of education which the National Narcotic association proposes to inaugurate in Glendale. It took the form of instructions to the chairman to appoint a committee of five to go out and enlist twenty men, more or less, who would underwrite the initial expense of $1000 that the work may begin at once.

This action followed a talk before the board by Captain Richmond Hobson, who is heading this educational campaign against the narcotic evil and who was accompanied by Mr. Fox.

The facts and figures presented by Captain Hobson were such as to strike terror to the hearts of all the parents in attendance on the meeting, and when a conservative member endeavored to have action postponed for a week his motion was defeated on a roll-call vote. All present were in agreement with Captain Hobson that unless this rapidly growing evil is checked the United States is menaced by a catastrophe beside which the Japan earthquake pales into insignificance, because it is in this country that the great strides in the vice are being made, and in the most insidious manner, almost impossible of detection.

He showed that the cure of an addict is almost hopeless and that education which will fortify the coming generation is the only means of protection.

He stated that the co-operation of the schools had been secured and the promise that systematic instruction would be given there. The next objective is the dissemination of educational literature in the homes through the aid of Boy Scouts.

Of the money asked for this campaign, 40 per cent, or practically all of the first installment, will be spent in Glendale and 50 per cent will go to found a perpetual national fund for the continuance of the educational campaign in years to come.

According to the government statistics he quoted there are in this country 1,500,000 known addicts, but these, he declared, are but a fraction of the real number because it is the most secretive of all vices. Said he: "When the effects of the drug begin to subside the anti-toxins which nature has created to resist the narcotic become virulent poisons and cause the most terrible torture known to man. The victims become the slaves of those who sell the drugs. Heroin is four times as powerful in effect as morphine and is peculiarly psychological in its effects, because it is anti-social or lawless. The victim has a mania to get others into the same condition. He has no bowels of pity or compassion and becomse a peddler. The drug was introduced into the United States in 1909 and in 1913 came to the attention of Congress. More than 60 per cent of the work of the federal courts concerns narcotics and more than half of the inmates of the Fort Leavenworth federal prison are addicts.

"The use of the drug in America exceeds that of any other country, averaging 36 grains per year per capita, and is increasing at the rate of half a grain per capita a year.

"One and a half per cent of the addicts are each spending $10 a day upon the drug. It means that $6000 a day is worse than wasted in a town the size of Glendale, to say nothing of the recruiting that is going on. The human race is living in a new environment of peril."

In the discussion which followed Captain Hobson's talk in which the proposition was outlined, Director R. F. Kitterman said:

"We are looking across the sea and bending our energies to aid Japan because of the great disaster that has overtaken her, but are hesitating to tackle the proposition of saving 50,000,000 people in Los Angeles county. Can we transplant into the minds of the people the disaster that is facing California this year and next year and years to come?"

Mr. Hobson added: "The addicts are going to be recorded as lepers and the peddlers are some day going to be hanged. This is a life and death struggle of society because it is striking at the germ plasm. The offspring of addicts is sub-normal and our institutions are being filled with them. This thing has to be met or civilization goes down and the race perishes. Truth breaks the shackles and sets men free."

One member of the board declared that statements had been made to him concerning addicts among the boys in Glendale and Mr. Hobson stated that a terrible condition exists in Hollywood.

PERMITS ARE STILL MOUNTING HIGH FOR SEPTEMBER

Most of the Sixteen Issued Were for Residences

Building permits in Glendale reached the grand total for the month of September of $407,207 at shortly before noon today. During the past 24 hours permits were issued having a valuation of $34,550, practically all of this being for homes.

The permits for the year thus far have reached a grand total of $7,062,871.

SONOMA COUNTY TOWNS DESTROYED BY FIRE

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Favorite The town of Boyes Springs in eastern Sonoma county and the village of Markhams in western Sonoma county were destroyed by forest and brush fires which burned from one end of the county to the other yesterday, it was announced today by Fire Warden John M. Laughlin and a number of deputy sheriffs.

JUDGMENT FOR $89 MUSKE GIVEN

The case of A. F. Muske, cement contractor, vs. John F. Robinson and Betty Robinson had a hearing before Judge Harry W. Chase Monday afternoon and judgement was renedered in favor of the plaintiff for $89 and costs. The plaintiff asked $141.40. The case involved a dispute about what should be paid plaintiff for work done for Mrs. Robinson.

BRAVE BERKELEY CALMLY PLANS REBUILDING

Loss Now Estimated at Ten Millions; 2000 Homeless

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 19.—The first step in the reconstruction of the Cragmont and Euclid avenue districts of North Berkeley, razed Monday in the most disastrous fire in the city's history, will be taken today when workers will attack the flame-charred ruins with dynamite and wrecking tools.

While the 35 blocks or more over which the fire raged still lay blanketed with smouldering ruins yesterday, surrounded by a cordon of police and army sentries, victims of the disaster surveyed the extent of the damage and immediately began making preparations for the re-building of their homes after the debris of the conflagation has been cleared away.

Hundreds of chimneys, all that remain standing in the flame-scarred area, will be blasted down today and laborers will commence the task of hauling away the debris which lies scattered everywhere.

The real and personal property loss in the blaze was estimated at $10,000,000 late yesterday by C. C. Emslee, president of the Berkeley board of fire underwriters, to whom 75 insurance adjusters reported after a complete check of the fire zone. Not more than $4,000,000 was covered by insurance, he said. One hundred companies are sharing the loss and claims will be paid promptly, he declared.

The 2,500 homeless victims of the fire today had found shelter with friends or in homes thrown open to them immediately after the conflagration. Among the number were 1,200 students of the University of California and 300 families of faculty members, it was officially announced.

OVER 200 PER CENT INCREASE AT GRAND VIEW

First Day Enrollment Last Year, 90; This Year 280

A convincing demonstration of the astounding growth of the wonder city of the United States has just been afforded by the enrollment at the Grand View school, of which Miss Vera Sinclair is principal.

On the first day of school last year the enrollment was 90. On the first day this year it was 280, an increase of 211 percent. As the additional class rooms are not completed, half day sessions have had to be held in all grades except 4 and 5. In the first grade alone there are 168 pupils. It will have to be divided into two sections and a new teacher will have to be added to the staff. This big enrollment means that in addition to the new class rooms and the kindergarten a temporary bungalow class room will have to be provided to shelter the pupils.

The opening of the kindergarten has been postponed until next Monday. The enrollment in that department is 34. The end is not yet, because there are many new houses in the district which will doubtless be occupied before the year is out, and new tracts are constantly being sublivided and put upon the market.

Miss Sinclair says she feels the school has lived up to the slogan on its banner in the Rotary parade last year, "The Fastest Growing School in the Fastest Growing City in the World."

Last year four teachers were employed in this school. This year seven were elected and one more will have to be added.

SHIPPING BOARD TO SUE BIG CORPORATION

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Failing to reach a settlement by negotiation, the shipping board has instructed its legal department to prepare suit against the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation for recovery of about $2,500,000, alleged to have been overpaid under that firm's war contracts.

FOREST FIRES STILL MENACE THE NORTHLAND

SAN. FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—Hundreds of miles of smoking timber land or smouldering brush, guarded by thousands of fire fighters, mark the scenes of the worst forest fires in California history, which were believed under control early today.

Any renewed wind might start a dozen conflagrations, however, particularly in the northern part of the state where forest fires were particularly severe.

A dozen small towns in the north, many summer resorts, scores of ranches and miles of forest were wiped out by the flames.

In Berkeley, which suffered a loss of $10,000,000 through destruction of part of its finest residential section when brush fires in the vicinity spread, the fires are out. No loss of life has been reported.

Berkeley city officials have started an investigation of the low water pressure which left the city helpless for five hours Monday as the fire swept across fifty of the finest residential blocks.

Residents of the Sonoma valley are fleeing their homes on special relief trains for Santa Rosa.

The Boyes Springs resort was destroyed after the fire fighters thought they had the flames extinguished. A wind fanned the smouldering embers after the volunteer firemen had left for Sonoma.

L. A. COUNTY GETS TWICE SCHOOL FUNDS ANY OTHER

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 19.—Los Angeles county will receive more than twice as much as any other county in the state of the $10,377,000, which is the first apportionment of the state school fund, according to announcement made by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction. The apportionment is made under constitutional amendment No. 16, which provides that the state shall pay to the counties $30 per pupil for support of local elementary and high schools.

The apportionment figures by county include: Imperial. $118,200; Los Angeles $2,849,976; Orange $250,890; Riverside $173,268; San Bernardino $255,732; San Francisco $847,200; Santa Barbara $119,454; Ventura $107,280.

LATE SPORTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—The large gallery at the national amateur gold championship tournament made no mistake today when it followed Bobby Jones of Atlanta, open national champion, in his second match round at Flossmoor, for he set a new record for the 6,704 yard links at 34-36—70, four under par, in getting a lead of 2 up to Max Marston of Philadelphia, on the first 18 holes of today's play.

While Jones led the medal scoring for the forenoon round, the defending champion, Jess Sweetser of New York was only two strokes worse in his match with Dave Herron of Chicago, former title holder, taking 36-36—72, to be up 2 on Herron at the 18th hole.

Of scarcely of less interest to the gallery than the Jones match was the struggle between Francis Ouimet of Boston and Willie Hunter, formerly British champion, who yesterday upset the predictions by eliminating Chick Evans, one of the favorites for the finals 2 and 1. Ouimet was not playing the game today that he exhibited in winning the national title from Ray and Varden at Boston in 1913. The Bostonian took no fewer than 40 strokes on each nine and as Hunter chalked a up a pair of 38s he was lucky to be no more than 2 down at the end of the first round, one more than Evans was down to Hunter at the same point.

Jess Guilford, Boston, defeated Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 7 and 6.

Jess Sweetser, defending champion, today defeated Dave Herron, Chicago, former champion, 4 and 3.

Densmore Shute, Huntington, defeated Ned Allis, Milwaukee, 6 and 5.

Francis Ouimet of Boston defeated Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

George Von Elm, Salt Lake, defeated Jimmie Manion, St. Louis, 6 and 5.

Joe Wells, East Liverpool, Ohio, defeated H. K. B. Davis, San Francisco, 4 and 3.

Robert Fardner Chicago, defeated Bill Fownes, Pittsburgh, 2 and 1.

Max Marston, Philadelphia, defeated Bobby Jones, Atlanta, 2 and 1.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS DISCUSS MANY SUBJECTS

Consider Advertising, Chest and Los Feliz Assessments

The advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce again made a brilliant report and received bouquets at the meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday evening followed by a vote on motion of W. E. Hewitt to appropriate $75 from the advertising fund for banners to be hung on the engine of the Glendale-Montrose railroad when it makes its triumphal cross continental run after being exhibited at the convention at Atlantic City.

Secretary Sanders reported that the supreme court in a recent decision upheld the present schedule of fares on the Glendale and other of the Pacific Electric lines.

Community Chest Endorsed

Dr. Warren Newton reported for the community chest committee and asked for its discharge after recommending the adoption of the community chest idea and the appointment of a chairman to effect a permanent chest organization. The report was accepted, the committee discharged, and on motion of Lloyd Wilson, W. E. Hewitt was appointed to act as chairman of a committee to effect a permanent chest organization.

The question of opposition to the activities of some of the beneficiaries of the proposed chest was discussed and Dr. Henry Rasmus, president of the Ministerial association was called in conference. He explained that if two items in the program of Community Service could be eliminated, which Secretary Tucker had said could be done, all opposition to the chest would, he believed, be eliminated. Dr. Newton and others expressed their satisfaction over this expression of the attitude of the Ministerial association and the chest idea was strongly endorsed by several of the directors present.

Los Feliz Assessments

Attorney Wende reported the status of suits brought to recover assessments levied against property owners in the district covering the opening and widening of Los Feliz boulevard, and on motion of Mr. Hewitt the board instructed its chairman to appoint a committee of five to co-operate with city officials in securing lists of properties assessed with a view to determining whether the titles have been clouded by suits. It was Mr. Wende's contention that the animus back of Steddon & Blanchard is the clouding of titles and the securing of the property by tax sales when the owners are in ignorance of the liens.

Secretary Sanders read a communication from Abraham Ferber enclosing a $10 check for the Red Cross and a check for an equal amount for the advertising fund.

Letters From Mexico

Interesting letters from Mayor Spencer Robinson, Peter Ferry and Herman Nelson describing their doings in Mexico were read and enjoyed.

Chamber Forum

Secretary Sanders announced a forum night of entertainment at the high school next Tuesday evening under the auspices of Community Service at which the chief speakers will be Mayor Robinson, Peter Ferry and Herman Nelson.

Poor Western Union Service

Director Hewitt registered a protest against the service of the Western Union in Glendale and the secretary was instructed to write a letter setting forth the conditions complained of to the manager in Los Angeles.

SEA BATHERS FEAR LAND SERPENT

LONG BEACH, Calif., Sept. 19.—(United Press).—Bathers on the pike are feeling uneasy these days.

A huge python, 22 feet long, achieved freedom and roamed the pike. The reptile escaped from an amusement concession and ran, galloped or whatever a python does when he hurries—down the walk fronting the sea. Finally it found a lair under some pilings. One of the trainers attempted to pull it out by grabbing its tail. He nearly had his leg broken for his temerity.

The snake, in its strategic position, defied capture for days.

THEY ALL COME BACK SOME TIME OR OTHER

Frank Chase, Pooh Bah of Potrero Is a "Hornin'" for Glendale

When Frank Chase, founder of the Glendale Weekly Press in 1910, of the G. U. H. S. Explosion and a Tujunga weekly a little later, shook the dust of Glendale from his No. 14s and hied him away to the sunny "further south," we thought the city that will not annex had lost him forever. But not so. Although he successfully piloted a goodly sized ranch as well as the city of Potrero, which he practically built up and nursed to middle age, acting as keeper of the general store, postmaster, arbiter of disputes, legal adviser and whatever else was needed, he has grown weary of bucolic joys and pines again for "the waters of Caney Fork," as Opie Read puts it. So he sold his store, gave away his postoffice and is negotiating the sale of his ranch. His eyes are firmly fixed on Glendale, where he is now "at" for a short visit and to Glendale must he come. With his good wife and five sturdy boys he soon will locate again in the growing little city by the raging Verdugo wash and engage in some congenial business that will keep the pot boiling and in which he can train his boys in useful work. And Glendale will welcome her wondering son who has seen the error of his ways and comes back repentant.

Frank says when he first printed the Explosion it was a 2-column, 4-page pamphlet. He was surprised when shown this week's splendid issue, a regular newspaper in size and contents. The paper he printed for Tujunga circulated in that little settlement. Also Sunland and Little Landers. He went up once a week to get the news and the stage was his medium of transportation. "Them was the happy days," Frank said, but he has no fault to find with the present.

He expressed unbounded surprise at the marvelous development of the Glendale Daily Press from a mere infant to a full-fledged metropolitan daily in less than three years and wandered delightedly over the splendid new building, viewing the commodious composing room, well equipped job room, and all the modern conveniences, but the big 3-deck, 24-page, 3 color press that grinds out 25,000 completed papers an hour when necessary, he was utterly astounded, as he recalled to mind the little 2-page Cottrell infant that was the sole dependence of the Press when it started on March 1, 1921.

MRS. HAGIN HEARS FROM DAUGHTER

Mrs. F. E. Hagin of 634 Howard street received a telegram yesterday from her daughter, Fannie Alice, who is attending U. of C. at Berkeley that she was safe and had suffered no bodily injury. Her family and many friends had been very uneasy as they knew her rooming place was in the path of the flames.

Mrs. Hagin informed the Daily Press that she was not looking for a letter from her older daughter, Edith, who is in Japan, for at least four weeks, maybe longer, as the telegraphic reports are that the railways from the inland cities to the harbors on both coasts were utterly destroyed, so no mail could be transmitted.

BEARS BREAKING DOWN FRUIT TREES

WILLOWS, Calif., Sept. 19.—(United Press).—In this day of civilized California, Willows has been startled to find itself beset by a plague of bears and is broadcasting a hurry call for bear hunters. The critters climb fruit trees more eagerly than gracefully, breaking branches and in cases girdling the young trees.

In one orchard the eager animals broke down the fence so they could have more easy access—and possibly easier and quicker exit.

FIRST PHOTOGRAPH OF PRESIDENT COOLIDGE AND HIS ENTIRE CABINET, TAKEN ON WHITE HOUSE LAWN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Practically all of today's cabinet meeting, the longest held since President Coolidge entered the White House, was devoted to discussion of the agricultural situation.

Afterwards it became known that Secretary Wallace is making a particular study of the wheat problem and will report to the President late next week, presenting facts which are expected to enable the executive and his advisors to formulate a constructive program along sound economic lines.

CERRITOS P.-T. A. GET-TOGETHER MEETING HELD

A get-together meeting of mothers and teachers was the first session of the Cerritos Avenue P.-T. A. held Tuesday afternoon in the domestic science room of the school, with Mrs. W. F. Small, presiding. There was no program except an informal and practical talk by Mrs. Annie Curtis, principal of the school.

The only business transacted was a vote to resume the serving of milk to children of the school next month.

During the social hour tea and wafers were served by Mrs. J. A. Grant, Mrs. H. Salzman, Mrs. H. O. Croft and Mrs. D. F. Erskine.

Officers of the association this year are: President, Mrs. W. F. Small; vice president, Mrs. W. A. Woodbury; secretary, Mrs. H. F. Croft; treasurer, Mrs. H. Salzman; committee chairmen: Membership, Mrs. J. A. Grant; publicity, Mrs. B. F. Thurston; philanthropy, Mrs. J. W. Cleeland; patriotism, Miss Aldrich; courtesy, Mrs. McCurdy; playgrounds, Mrs. Irene McReynolds; programs, Mrs. Woodbury and Mrs. Annie Curtis.

Visitors of the afternoon were the Baroness Otilly De Ropp and Mrs. E. B. Moore, who made a talk on child welfare and the P.-T. A. Magazine.

BIG BULL ELK TANGLES WIRES

PENDLETON, Ore., Sept. 19 (United Press).—A big bull elk who got his horns tangled in low-hanging wires of the Pacific Power & Light Co. disrupted telephone service on the Walla Walla river for several hours a few days ago.

Ranchers who noticed the animals' plight attempted to rescue him, but the elk kicked and threshed so violently, that no one could approach him. Finally he broke loose, taking with him about 300 feet of telephone company wire as he plunged into the forest.

The man who thinks that the world owes him a living doesn't think anything about what he owes the world.

Events of Interest to Glendale and Its People

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hayes of South Central avenue are leaving today on an extensive eastern trip.

Mrs. Daisy Straight of West Elk avenue is very ill at her home.

Dale T. Wood and his mother, Mrs. Louisa G. Wood of 1470 East Wilson, left Glendale Monday by auto for the San Joaquin valley where they will make stops in Corcoran, Stratford and Bakersfield to look after business matters. They expected to return to Glendale today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chambers and four children have just returned from a nine weeks' auto trip which took them to points in British Columbia, Portland, Seattle, Oregon Cave, Eureka, Crescent City and many other interesting places. On one of the mountain roads they were held up by a land slide and 93 machines were compelled to wait until steam shovels could be secured to clear the road. They reached home about daybreak Tuesday morning.

Francis K. Rook and bride of Julesburg, Colo., on their honeymoon trip by auto, arrived in Glendale at the home of Mr. Rook's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Rook of 341 Ivy street. They say, "If we like your country, we'll stay." It is to be hoped they will like it as much as does the doctor and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Osborne, 127 Sinclair, have just returned from San Francisco. Mrs. Osborne and the children have spent the summer in the bay city and Mr. Osborne, who is with the Security Trust bank, went up for his vacation.

Mrs. Francis Benner, 550 Del Mar avenue, Montrose, fell from her machine early yesterday afternoon, striking her head on the pavement. She was hurried to the Glendale sanitarium where the injuries were declared not serious.

Mrs. Harry Betz, Mrs. V. Viall and Mrs. Myron Betz of Glendale, were among the guests who enjoyed a charming luncheon given by Mrs. I. F. Betz at her home, 2234 West 14th street, yesterday. Covers were laid for fourteen friends from Los Angeles and nearby cities.

Ray Morrow, city attorney, returned this morning from a lively hunting and fishing trip in the hills. He spent two weeks at Welden, Calif., near Kern, on Taylor and Manitor creeks.

The little daughter of Mrs. C. A. Perry, 111 North Louise street, who is in a Los Angeles hospital for nervous patients, is not showing a noticeable improvement, but her parents are having done all that science and medicine can do towards curing her. She has been at the hospital for ten days.

Both J. H. Orth and Miss Hetty Orth are confined to their beds with painful illnesses. Mr. Orth is suffering from rheumatism and Miss Hetty has tonsilitis. They are improving and will be out among their friends again in a few days.

Mrs. G. C. Hastings, 319 West Lexington drive, was pleasantly surprised this morning when at 8 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rice, and Mrs. Rice's mother, Mrs. Mary Cochrane, arrived from Baltimore, Maryland, to visit her. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Hastings have been close friends from school days and it was with great joy that she opened the door this morning to find her school chum standing outside. Although they came to be present at the wedding of Mrs. Hasting's son, George, which takes place today, her guests will remain with her for two weeks.

FAREWELL MEETING OF CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Missionary and Ladies' Aid Societies of the First Presbyterian Church held their farewell meeting at the old church yesterday. A splendid attendance made possible a most enjoyable and enthusiastic meeting. About 140 ladies were present. Mrs. David Black had charge of the enjoyable morning program, and Mrs. F. T. Wilkin, with her circle, arranged for the delicious luncheon. A number of interesting reports were made, among them those by Miss Anita Fletcher, Mrs. Edmonds, and Mrs. Fletcher. The regular business session was spent in an extensive discussion and survey of finishings for the new church. The rest of the afternoon was spent in sewing.

IRA CLEELAND AND MISS TALIAFERRO WERE MARRIED

Charming Home Wedding With Relatives Only Attending

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Taliaferro and Ira Cleeland was celebrated Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Taliaferro at 351 West Garfield avenue, with Rev. H. C. Mullen officiating.

It was a charming unconventional home affair confined to the relatives of the contracting parties and a very few intimate friends.

The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations and ferns. The bride was gowned in white Canton crepe, was crowned with orange blossoms and carried a shower boquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Anna Merriken, as maid of honor, who wore pink satin and carried pink carnations. Alfred Taliaferro, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony the company adjourned to the home prepared for the bridal couple at 301 West Maple street. After it had been duly inspected a return was made to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro where a wedding supper was served, the guests being: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Taliaferro, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cleeland, parents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cleeland, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Cleeland, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hirt and son, Charles; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Merriken, Miss Anna Merriken, Mrs. H. V. Davis and son Bobby, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cleeland.

YALES WELCOME NEW DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Yale of 205 West Doran have welcomed into their home Mary Theresa Yale, born September 13 at St. Vincent's hospital. Mother and babe are doing well.

Should you spill hot fat on the floor or a wooden table, pour cold water upon it at once. It can then be more easily scraped off, not having had time to sink into the wood.

My Powders

The kind they use in Movieland

By Edna Wallace Hopper

In person and in print I am telling millions of women how I multiplied my beauty and retained my youth. And I am supplying to all who wish the very helps I use.

Not as a beauty expert or a maker of cosmetics. I am neither. My work is on the stage and screen. I am simply having experts make up the formulas for which I searched the world, and place them at your call.

Those beauty helps made me a famous beauty. And they have kept me looking like a girl of 19, after 32 years as a stage star.

What beauties use

My home is in Movieland. We have there, perhaps, the greatest congregation of beauty in the land. And those beauties are careful of their looks. Thousands of women have asked me to tell them the powders they employ.

They are very costly powders, made to meet supreme requirements. We care little what we pay. But very few, I fear, would pay what we do for them.

The makers, however, have consented to make these same powders for me, in quantities, under my name. And at ordinary prices. So all who wish may now enjoy these superlative creations.

Heavy and light

Most of us on the stage and screen prefer a heavy, clinging cold cream powder, with a base like my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. But some prefer the powder light and fluffy, without the cold cream base. So I had both kinds prepared.

Both are the utmost in face powders, as fine as vapor, as harmless as dew. Both are fragrant with my favorite perfume. And both come in three shades, white, flesh and brunette.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream Powder—the clinging cold cream powder—sells for $1. Edna Wallace Hopper's Face Powder—the light, fluffy powder—sells for 50c.

Druggists and toilet goods counters sell my powders now. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Youth Cream—my fruity cold cream. Also my White Youth Clay. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my thick, fine, lustrous hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

If you searched the world, as I have done, you would never find face powders to compare with these, I think.—Edna Wallace Hopper, Business Address, Waukesha, Wisc.—Advt.

ALIAS ART SMITH IS ARRESTED ON THEFT SUSPICION

After an exciting chase, Captain Loving and Lieutenant Royle of the local police department arrested J. Peterson, alias Art Smith, alias Harris Peterson of Denver, Colo., in the Tujunga hills yesterday afternoon.

Peterson, or Smith, as he has called himself upon various occasions, attempted to sell a Ford in Glendale yesterday on a bogus bill of sale. Immediately upon being notified, the police trailed the suspect, located him in the hills and took him into custody.

They wired H. R. Williams, Denver police chief, a detailed description of the man, and his return wire stated that it tallied with that of a fugitive from justice wanted by the Denver department. Peterson, or Smith, is being held by the local authorities pending further identification.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR GUESTS FROM OHIO

A merry party of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knox, 1006 East Elk avenue, Monday evening. The occasion was in the nature of a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gaither, who have left for their home near Youngstown, Ohio, after spending a year and a half in Glendale. The evening was pleasantly spent playing games, followed by tempting refreshments.

Don't have floors which will require frequent and regular scrubbing. If you can't afford linoleum, paint or stain them.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

LA CRESCENTA, Sept. 19.—Mrs. C. W. A. Augies, president of the local Parent-Teachers association, promises a splendid program for the opening meeting of the year, next Thursday afternoon, at 2:45 at the school auditorium. Alfred Blanford, principal of the school and a number of the instructors will make short talks, which will be followed by a most interesting program by the advance pupils of the Cavanaugh studio of Glendale and Mrs. Jane Whittemore of the Dramatic Arts section of that school. The program will include:

Piano Solo "Love's Golden Dream," ..... Helen Wengel
Reading, "A Queer Little House," Pianologue, "Reassurance," ..... Tholeo Wilson
Readings, "Hushabye Sweet My Dear," "A Little Boy and His Stomach," ..... Ruth Stevens
Song, "Old Fashioned Garden," Reading, "Miss Elizabeth Helps Things Along," Margaurite Anderson.
Readings, "Home," Malinda's Proposal ..... Mrs. Jane Whitmore

A business meeting will precede the program. The officers and chairman for this year include:

President, Mrs. C. W. Augier; first vice president, Mrs. Charles Reinhard; second vice president, Mrs. T. G. Telfer; secretary, Mrs. A. V. Adkins; treasurer, Mrs. Jessie Hansen; historian, Mrs. A. Burt; program chairman, Mrs. C. Van Duzen; entertainment chairman, Mrs. C. Suvin; membership chairman; Mrs. S. B. Young; Reception chairman, Mrs. T. O. Polts; parliamentarian, Mrs. M. S. Collins.

Curing your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Mr. Barnes: I would be obliged to you if you would explain to me just what is meant by pronation. I have frequently run across this expression in golf writings, and have asked different golfers for an explanation, but none of them have been quite clear on just what it is and how it effects the stroke. Do you recommend it or not? B. M.

Answer: Pronation is an expression frequently used in describing the action of the wrists, or rather, the forearms in making a golf stroke. In taking the club back it is necessary to turn the left forearm over to the right to some extent. This is pronating the left arm. At the same time that the left arm is turning over on top of the shaft, the right is turning under, which is supinating the right arm.

Now then, when the club is brought back down to the ball, these actions of the two forearms must be reversed if the clubhead is to be gotten back into the position that it occupied in the address. Hence the right forearm is pronated on the downswing and the left supinated.

To some extent this action is necessary, but too much of it will more than likely lead to trouble, the trouble being in rolling the right forearm forward on the downswing just enough and not too much to offset the roll of the left on the backswing.

The amount of pronation of the left on the backswing depends very largely on the position of the left hand on the club in the address. If the left is placed too far over toward the right, more pronating is necessary. This means more turning of the right on the downswing, and of course more room for error. As previously stated, some roll of the forearms is necessary, but I prefer to restrict it by so gripping that only slight turning is necessary.

IMMODEST DRESS EDICT OF POPE STRICTER

[By Associated Press]

ROME, Sept. 19.—As a result of the recent sensational incident when 150 women, forming a part of a deputation to the Pope, were turned back from the Vatican because their dresses were low cut at the neck and had short sleeves, the Papal Majordomo has issued a new set of regulations for dress when being received by the Pope.

Women must wear dresses covering the arms to the wrist and the neck to the chin, says the regulations. The dresses must be made of thick material and not transparent and be long enough to reach down to the ankles of the wearer. Dresses giving undue prominence to the figure are discouraged.

Gloves must not be worn and only wedding or engagement rings may adorn the fingers of intending visitors to the Vatican, who are now submitted to three examinations, viz., first at the door, second at St. Damaso Courtyard, and if they pass these posts their invitation card is crossed with a blue mark. The third examination is made in the Papal antichamber, where successful candidates receive a red cross on their cards.

Make-up of any description is strictly forbidden. Hair dye is tolerated provided it is not of the conspicuous peroxide tint.

To take oil stains out of carpets, spread the soiled parts thickly with a paste made of fullers earth and cold water. Allow it to dry and then remove with a stiff brush.

LIVELY MEETING GIRLS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY IS HELD

The Girls' Friendly society of St. Mark's Episcopal church held a very lively meeting last night. An unusually good supper was served by Mrs. N. P. Holbrook.

Further plans were made for the big membership party to be held at the home of Mrs. Cory, 820 South Central, nevt Tuesday evening, September 25, at 8 o'clock. All young girls, 16 years of age and over are cordially invited to attend. A good program has been planned which it to be followed by dancing and refreshments.

The girls are planning to give another play this fall, date of which will be announced later. The following are on the committee for same: Esther Veitch, Marie Powers, Ethel Read and Beatrice Brooks.

The Misses Gladys Kattleman, Thelma Johnson, Frances Powers, Louise Ayala, Muriel Gambrill and Lila Leitch, with Mrs. Cory and Mrs. P. Kemp are on the program committee for the year. Many good times are in store for the girls this winter.

A big barn dance will be given Hallowe'en night, with old fashioned games and dances, ducking for apples, and all the fixings, including doughnuts and cider for refreshments. The committee consisting of Marie Powers, Thelma Johnson, Esther Veitch, Ethel Read, Laura Clark, Mrs. A. Powers, Mrs. Kattleman, Mrs. Gaulrapp, Mrs. Kemp and Muriel Gambrill is responsible for that night.

The money for furnishing the Glendale girls' room in the G. F. S. lodge, Los Angeles, has been raised and the room will soon be ready for occupants.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cory, 820 South Central, but the following Tuesday the Friendly club will meet at the home of Mrs. Kemp, 419 East Harvard.

REBEKAH LODGE CELEBRATES 72ND ANNIVERSARY

Tuesday night a wonderful party in celebration of the 72d anniversary of the founding of the Rebekah lodge, was held in Odd Fellows' hall, a number of visitors being present from other lodges.

At the business session an invitation was extended to all the lodges of the district to attend a dance and box social to be given September 29 by Oriental lodge of Los Angeles, the Rebekahs to provide the lunches for the boxes, which will be auctioned off and thus provide the refreshments.

Following the business session a program was presented which included:

Reading by Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand.

Vocal solo by Mrs. Coughlin, accompanied by Mrs. Loretta Schwitters.

Reading by Mrs. Loretta Schwitters.

Violin solo by Evangeline Quackenbush, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Jones.

Recitation by Mrs. Rosella Strothers.

After the program a sumptuous banquet was served at tables beautifully decorated with flowers. A large birthday cake had been placed in one corner of the banquet hall embedded in carnations and ferns. At the conclusion of the banquet, guests danced until midnight.

Tonight the degree team will meet in Odd Fellows' hall for drill practice.

Our Schools and Colleges

Glendale High

Officers of the Girls' League of Glendale High of which Gwen Warner is president, will be installed the latter part of the week, after the president has named her executive board.

This year the league will divide forces and give two stunt parties, one by seniors and juniors October 19, the other by Sophomore and junior classes October 26.

Arden Gingery, president of the Boys' League, has suggested a new name for the head of the organization, viz., "Chief Clansman," with a faculty member to be known as "Royal Druid." Dues of 25c per month will be proposed and various other innovations to be voted upon and provided for in the constitution if adopted.

The school paper, "The Explosion," will this year be published Tuesday instead of Friday that it may better record the end of the week news.

Along the line of expansion a course in architectural drawing has been added to the mechanical arts department under George Lockwood.

Announcement is made that no credit will be given for but one year of a foreign language unless approved by the head of the department.

Pearson Taylor and William S. Pigg are endeavoring to organize a radio club at Glendale High.

High school talent is to be largely featured in the comedy, "Petticoat Lane," to be given under the auspices of the De Molay chapter. Leads in the play will be taken by Miss Marie Hearnshaw as the pet of Petticoat Lane, and Claude Whitfield as Jack, the leading man. Maurice Widdows, Howard Eliot, Elmer Fitts, Irvin Carver, Paul O. Morgan and Thomas Woods, Margaret Longley, Winnifred Parker, Valera Trimmer, Rebecca Hodge, and Catherine Guthrie will play leading roles.

The executive board of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate P.-T. A. was charmingly entertained by Mrs. H. A. Thimm Monday afternoon at which time work for the coming year was outlined. Ten members were present and refreshments were served. The regular meeting of the association will be held Monday afternoon at the Wilson Avenue School at 2:30.

The new staff of the Glendale Hi paper, "The Explosion," covered itself with glory in the first issue of the paper for the current school year, printed Tuesday. Lorin Scovill is editor-in-chief; Cecil Chase, assistant editor; Marie Griggs, associate editor; Margaret Robinson, news editor; Irvin Carver, sport editor; Emily Torchia, girls' sport editor. Horace Anderson is business manager. It has a circulation of about 2,000 and is supported by the subscriptions represented by student tickets and its advertising patrons among the Glendale merchants. Students do all the work of writing, editing, preparing ads, and securing subscriptions. The subscription price is $1 and it has quite a subscription list among the alumni of the school.

Captain Guy O. Kurtz of Fort Collins, Colorado, who has been the guest of his cousin, Paul Webb, member of the faculty of Glendale High, left yesterday for Honolulu where he expects to be stationed for the coming three years. He was accompanied by his wife and child. He has been in the regular army ever since the beginning of the world war and won his captaincy in that conflict. He has been instructor in R. O. T. C. at Fort Collins in engineering for the past two years and is in the Field Artillery Department.

Mrs. Lilian Smits was a quite anxious mother when the news was broadcasted Monday night about the fire in Berkeley where her son Evart is attending the state university. He is living with his grandparents and only a short distance from the campus, but Tuesday morning she received a telegram from him announcing his safety.

He is working on the "Californian," the university daily and is writing a series of letters on the order of "Deer Mable," which he signs "Oswald," and which are proving quite a poular feature.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

Interest in the autumn meeting of the Pacific Coast conference at which all the leading western colleges were represented, centered upon the steadily increasing practice of scouting for athletes. The delegates, who met at Portland Thursday and Friday of last week, accomplished a great deal in this direction by the adoption of a new conference ruling which provided that scouting by anyone acting as a member of the conference or representing students' organizations is prohibited.

Dr. Barrow, physical director at Stanford, and Prof. John Calkins of the University of California, led the campaign for the stricter rule. The college men who met in the conference were agreed that the evil of proselyting for athletes is altogether too common among Pacific coast colleges and that the growing practice should be curtailed as far as possible.

The introduction of the new provision regarding scouting was more or less of a bombshell to several members of the conference whose activities have been receiving attention during the past summer. However, the action was not so much directed at them as at the further spread of the free-for-all scrambling for prospective athletic stars. Keen competition such as is threatened might easily lead towards professionalism, and would be a further cause of dissention and bad feeling between colleges. Hence the condemning of the practice as officially conducted by the colleges themselves or their representatives is expected to avert any such condition.

Violation of the new rule will be punishable by disqualification of any students involved in such violation from all intercollegiate competition, and by a reprimand or expulsion of the offending college. Another action taken to give teeth to the measure is the banning of the practice of giving complimentary tickets to prospective athletes entitling them to view athletic contests at no expense to themselves—a privilege not even accorded to students in attendance at the colleges themselves.

Some members of the conference took the view that the new scouting rule would be incapable of strict enforcement because of a vagueness in defining scouting, or in providing penalties that could be readily enforced. However, all are agreed that the thing was to get a ban on scouting into the rules and that specific cases could then be dealt with and an interpretation made as required.

U. S. C. introduced a proposition whereby the troublesome question of eligibility will be submitted to a sort of intercollegiate Judge Landis. The conference members disposed of this proposition in short order, declaring that it felt competent to make fair decisions.

Another ruling submitted by Stanford which was approved by the conference was that in regard to summer baseball. Heretofore all college men who played with bush nines or semi-pro nines in the summer were disqualified from intercollegiate competition. This worked hardship on some men who played legitimate amateur baseball, representing business institutions for which they worked. Hence the ruling as submitted by Stanford was adopted, and now provides that a student who desires to participate with another amateur organization or baseball club or team during the summer vacation may do so upon the written permission of his faculty, provided that no such permission shall be given to any student to participate with any organization for financial gain.

'PETTICOAT LANE' TO BE GIVEN BY THE DE MOLAYS, OCT. 1-2

"Petticoat Lane," the musical comedy to be given by the Glendale De Molays October 1 and 2 at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, is progressing in great shape, according to Paul Oliver Morgan, master councilor of the chapter. Rehearsals are being held every evening in the high school auditorium.

Unlike most amateur productions, "Petticoat Lane" is being directed by a professional theatrical man, Mr. Lucien Denni, who is also author of the production. Mr. Denni has produced plays for De Molays in every section of the country, being especially interested in the work of the order. He has written two musical comedies which are now on the road with professional companies. He is the author of a number of well-known songs, "Starlight Rose," "Suppose the Rose Were You" and "Oceana Roll."

At the rate the rehearsals are progressing, the show will be a real production by the opening night. The actors and choruses are getting right into the work with vim, and are determined to put the thing over big.

Although the entire cast has not been chosen, some of the principals have been selected. Marie Hearnshaw will take a leading part as Patricia Palmer, the Pet of Petticoat Lane. Winifred Parker will be Patsy, while Valera Trimmer takes the part of Buster Buzz. Catherine Guthrie has been selected as the "Dutchy" from Holland. Claude Whitfield is Jack Randolph, in love with the Pet of Petticoat lane. Paul O. Morgan is James Stewart, and Howard Elliot takes the part of Tony the Wop. Elmer Fitz is Paddy, the Copper of Petticoat lane, Maurice Widdows, Rastus, a colored gentleman, while Irvin Carver is Sunny South, one of the most unique characters in the production.

Tickets for "Petticoat Lane" were placed on sale this morning. They can be obtained from any De Molay or Mason.

BRITISH NAVAL CRITICS OUGHT TO SING SMALL

Foreign naval department heads and officers are making many ill-natured comments on the recent wrecking of destroyers near Santa Barbara and they criticise unmercifully our ship commanders. Such criticisms come with ill grace from Britain's naval heads, who should remember the Camperdown disaster about 25 years ago, when a fine battleship was wrecked thru gross carelessness and nearly 300 brave sailors went down to graves.

Our recent disaster scored heavily in loss of valuable ships, but comparatively few lives were sacrificed, owing to the bravery and quick thinking of officers and men. Money loss is not to be considered in comparison with human lives.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. LAURA FANNY PARMELEE

Mrs. Laura Fanny Parmelee, 3309 South Grand avenue, Los Angeles, passed away September 17, at the age of 51 years. Mrs. Parmelee, who had made her home in Los Angeles for most of the past 22 years, formerly resided for a short time with her son, Arthur D. Starr, at 133 South Columbus avenue, Glendale. Besides her son, Arthur, Mrs. Parmelee leaves to mourn her a husband, Charles R. Parmelee of Los Angeles, and another son, Elmer M. Starr of Long Beach.

Funeral services are announced for Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Jewel City Undertaking parlors. Rev. Maddix of Eagle Rock officiating.

GEORGE H. HUGHES

George H. Hughes of 512 George street, Tujunga, died Tuesday at the age of 59 years. He was a retired minister and was born in Prince Edward Island. For 33 years he had been a resident of California and for two of Tujunga. He is survived by a son, Charles T. Hughes of Santa Monica, and several daughters, Mrs. Elnora Elwood of Tujunga, Gertrude E. Hughes of San Francisco, Olive V. Markel of Sonoma county, and Faith Koch of Oakland.

Funeral services will be held in the Episcopalian Church of Tujunga Thursday at 10 a. m. They will be in charge of Kiefer & Eyerick.

Mortgage Discount Company Reports Great Activity

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Mortgage Discount company was held at the offices of the company, suite 15, 103-A North Brand boulevard Monday evening, Sept. 17, at which time President Julius Kranz reported a very flourishing condition of this newly organized Glendale concern and expressed his optimistic view for a very prosperous future.

Mr. Kranz spoke at length regarding the great building activity in Glendale and the wholesome and conservative financing done by contractors and home builders which has come to his attention through the many applications for the purchase of trust deeds which this concern deals in.

The personnel of this local finance concern, which speaks well for its success with its officers, is as follows: Julius Kranz, president; D. H. Smith, vice-president; Charles F. Hahn, secretary-treasurer; George Karr and E. F. Heisser complete the board of directors.

Truths in Epigram

A fig for care, and a fig for woe!—Heywood.

Of Law there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world.—Hooker.

By valyaunt, but not too venturous. Let thy attyre bee comely but not costly. —Lyly (1553-1601).

INSPIRED BY THE PINKS

In a statement issued by the United Mine Workers of America appears this statement:

"A larger volume of pernicious ultra-radical activity is centered around Los Angeles than any other city of the United States with the exception of the metropolitan district of New York. Revolutionary activity radicalism is profitable around Los Angeles because it is made so by the wealthy 'intellectuals' there who are dabbling in it.

"Pernicious and revolutionary propaganda distributed among the coal miners in the strike of 1922, and intended to arouse violence and 'mass action' was, in a number of instances, turned out by so-called popular authors and novelists in Los Angeles, who are receiving from $600 to $800 a month from the 'intellectual pinks' of that vicinity for doing that sort of thing."

There follows the explanation that the statement is made public by the Mine Worker's union in order to reveal the organization in America of the communist party under the banner of the Moscow communists.

Here is something worth thinking about. Conditions in Russia are said to be improving. The world hopes sincerely that this is true. Perhaps the day is coming when the Russians no longer shall in any part subsist on the bread of alien charity; when governments that the bolsheviki plot to undermine and destroy shall not be impelled by pity to send thither ships laden with free food.

But granting that conditions are improving is not the slightest indication that the United States pines to be ruled by Moscow. The so-called intellectual so-called pinks who do not approve of the constitution nor of the conduct of the American government, have ahead of them a gigantic task in winning a majority over to their point of view. Indeed, and manifestly, the task is hopeless. Advocates of bolshevism make trouble occasionally, similar to that created by the "barn-burners" of memory quite unblessed, but national managament is not to be turned over to them. This fact need not discourage the pinks. They can go to Russia and there land in the midst of the blissful area that they desire transported to the United States. It will be far easier to remove themselves than to remove the area in question. Having gone, let them revel in the joys they have found, and quit fooling with the project of forcing one hundred million unwilling Americans to revel in like fashion.

But if the pinks were to stay, and to succeed in their plotting, they would be sorry the instant bolshevism got a grip on their throats and their several fat purses.

SPELLING AND ENGINEERING

The proposition has been made to have industrial engineers co-operate with philologists in perfecting a system of simplified spelling. One engineer calculates that with an improved standardized system of spelling 200,000,000 pupil years would be saved to every generation. Truly an impressive figure.

With the utmost respect for the profession of engineering in all its various branches, it is fitting to remark that in mixing with philology, the engineer is getting so far off his beat that somebody is likely to inform him that he is being ridiculous. Simplified spelling as advocated by extermists would be mutilation and murder of a useful, respectable and quite adequate language. The desire for such a change arises from intellectual laziness; lazy teacher, lazy student. They both seek a short-cut, and taking it, realize that they have arrived nowhere.

The way to acquire knowledge of the English language is to study it, beginning with the alphabet. The one too slothful to do this must remain ignorant. He cannot avoid the appearance of ignorance by misspelling words under the guise of utilizing an improvement. That the accepted spelling of some words is arbitrary will be admitted. In this there will be gradual changes, but a sudden and radical change would be undesirable. The suppositious reformers assume that a word is a sound only. They lose sight of the fact that a word is a visible symbol, and that on its face, as printed, it bears its own history and genesis. The spelling is proper, and the mastery of the spelling, an essential element in education.

To shorten such words as catalogue would not be objectionable, for it could not be a disguise. Americans drop the letter u out of labor and parlor, and there is no protest. But such instances are exceptional. Many words precisely the same in pronunciation, or so nearly so that the ear may not make the distinction, have different spellings. To make them all alike would lead to confusion. Here are a few examples, coming to mind readily, although the list might be extended indefinitely:

do to vain rain residents course pray cent due too vane rein residence coarse prey sent dew two vein reign scent

To change the verb, as for instance to write "mist" for "missed," would not save enough ink or labor in a million years to be worth considering, and it would create a verb form already in use as a noun. The English language is not an accident, nor a sudden creation. It represents a natural, seemly growth. Why render it unkempt, and rob it of its significance at behest even of an engineer? Let him be content in his own profession.

BALFOUR GOES WRONG

According to Sir Arthur Balfour, the days of prosperity in this country are numbered. So they are, 365 a year, with a span of years stretching ahead indefintely. In his mind's eye he sees England with a better outlook than that of the United States. And so on.

America is friendly towards England, and very sorry for the English just now. It sincerely hopes for better days to cheer the dweller in a land that cannot be happy at this time. If Sir Arthur shall inspire the English to hope, and awaken the impulse to fresh endeavor, everybody will be glad of it. He might have made some buoyant statement concerning the British without raising a warning wail on behalf of people who now enjoy a prosperity of which only the sanguine Britisher is permitted to dream.

England has a tremendous war debt, a burden of taxation almost too great to be borne even by the most patient and loyal subjects. It faces the problem of unemployment. It is close to the zone of smouldering hatreds so fierce that they threaten to burst into the flame of war. Yet the English are bravely keeping up heart, and so doing, are winning the admiration of the world. Can it be that Sir Arthur, looking to the west across the Atlantic, views with jaundiced eye the steady development of resources, the financial stability, the mighty industrial enterprises?

There is no need to be alarmed, or even disturbed. The prophet of evil generally is fed upon inward emotions. The modern Jeremiah, raising an anguished voice, is likely to find indifferent hearers in this country. Give a man a secure job and good wages, and it is hard to scare him. Give capital a favorable opportunity, and timid as it often is, it will grab the chance. So this country progresses materially, building on sure foundation, as confident of tomorrow as it is sure of today.

An Iowa grocery firm has brought suit for $272,270.45 on the ground that 800 tons of sugar ordered by defendant concern had been refused upon delivery at San Francisco. Consumers realize that sugar has been high, but few had figured out how fast the commodity ran into money.

The judge often gets a man's misdeeds down to a fine point.

A good many prayers are made in private that his satanical majesty would like to have answered.

Only a wise man knows how little he knows of that which may be known.

"I've Got a Little List"

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"Bill" and I made up the list.
You all know "Bill," he who composes and perpetrates the charming "Bill" letters; but, to return to the list.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

We've decided that we need in this country a Lord High Executioner with a list of

"Society offenders who might well be underground
And who never will be missed,
who never will be missed."

At the head of the tentative list which we compiled we put "vamps," male and female, folks who pretent to hunt work while maintaining inside the firm determination never to find it; and last but not least those people who charge others with wrong doing and back down when it comes to testifying.

The latter class especially we'd like executed at the earliest possible moment; but it will be a century or more, perhaps more, before we begin to think seriously of punishing them.

Take an instance that happened in Monrovia recently, a terrible thing it was. A young girl charged her father with assaulting her. Later she denied the whole story, saying she made the charge to get rid of her father so she could marry a boy whose attentions he opposed.

True or false, her story has branded her father for life; people will always believe that she told the truth in the first place and later recanted because her father, probably, paid her to do so.

If the girl told the truth she did a dreadful thing when she refused to have her father handled by the society whose laws he had outraged! If she told an untruth she did a still more dreadful thing. In either case she escaped punishment of any kind.

Some years ago a man in this community served fifteen years in San Quentin for a similar charge lodged against him by his step-daughter. He had five more years to serve in that living hell when the girl went before a notary and swore that she had convicted her step-father on false evidence and because her mother was in love with another man and wished to get rid of the step-father.

This one charge was the only blot on the step-father's reputation. He had been an honored citizen before the affair and he resumed his medical practice after his release and lived an exemplary life.

But his life in prison broke him; he came out a hopeless cripple and a ruined man. If that girl did convict him on false testimony nothing is too severe for her; but under our laws and customs she can not be punished.

"Bill" and I want her on the "the little list."

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor" was a commandment hurled from Sanai. Thousands of years have passed since Moses returning from the mountain gave it to the children of Israel.

Can we of the twentieth century find no way of enforcing it?

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Two years ago Teddy Keene was the most perfect specimen of a spoiled brat I have ever seen. He ruled the house. His mother loved and kissed and slopped over him. She gave him anything he demanded that she could get for him. If he was refused he stormed and bellowed. His tired, nervous father blinked all the responsibilities of parenthood. Rather than fight both Toddy and Toddy's utterly silly mother he only asked that Toddy be kept out of his sight.

Then the rich uncle came along and sent Toddy to a boy's school.

Now Toddy is as fine a kid as you could find in a day's ride. His school masters and fellow pupils have licked the nonsense out of him. He has a slightly damaged nose, a pair of fine shoulders, and a sense of humor.

His mother is heart-broken. She is trying to induce the rich uncle to agree that Toddy be taken out of school. She says,—Boo-hoo—

"They've spoiled by baby boy."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

"I wish I had—"
That is one way of going through life.
Wishing you had more things.
More money.

More opportunity.
More of this or that or the other.

* * *

That is the kind of spirit that the merchant knew about when he decorated and draped the show windows.

That the advertiser knows about when he cries his wares.

That the gem dealer understands when he sets his place ablaze and sparkling with light.

"I wish I had—"
Repeated millions of times a day.
Wanting this and that.
A newer car or a bigger house or a larger gem or a wider swath to cut.
And you can always tell the Wish-I-had-ers.

You can tell them by the expression of their faces.
Unsatisfied desire written upon them.
Never enough.
Always a little bit more of this or that.

* * *

Then there is another class of people.
A smaller class, but happier and more contented.
"I am glad I have"—
The I-am-glad-I-havers.
Those who are grateful for life.
For health.
For an opportunity to work and earn.
For all the things of life that we may have if we will.

These people are not haunting show windows.
They are not filled with unsatisfied longings.
Their eyes are not envious of the glitter and bauble of the world.
They work.
They earn.
They live modestly.
They are reasonably content.

* * *

You can tell the I-am-glad-I-havers, too.
Their eyes are alight.
They are grateful.
They are glad for health and for friends and for opportunity and for work.

What are you?
Are you an I-wish-I-had-er or an I-am-glad-I-haver?
Are you working with spirit or wishing with dissatisfaction.
Do you want more pay and more things and more leisure and more chance to frivol and more of this and that?

* * *

Or are you glad for what you do have, and do you resolve to deserve more by earning it?
There's a lot of difference between the two classes of people.
And a lot of difference in their state of mind.

Things!
How many persons wish for them.
Strive for them.
Beg for them.
And find in the end that they brought nothing but worry and fret.
The things worth having you can't get by wishing for. You can have all you ought to have by deserving.

Songs of the Poets

Requiescat—By Matthew Arnold

Strew on her roses, roses,
And never a spray of yew.
In quiet she reposes,
Ah! would that I did too.

Her mirth the world required:
She bathed it is smiles of glee.
But her heart was tired, tired,
And now they let her be.

Her life was turning, turning,
In mazes of heat and sound.
But for peace her soul was yearning,
And now peace raps her round.

Her cabin'd, ample spirit,
It flutter'd and fail'd for breath.
Tonight it doth inherit
The vasty hall of Death.

A PRESIDENT'S LAST THOUGHT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE last words of any man are fraught with a big significance, and the last reflections of the President of the United States are worth considering seriously.

Walter Wellman recently sent forth a letter written by President Harding on June 15. The President was himself a newspaperman, and this letter is described as "the legacy of a newspaperman-President to the press of his country."

The letter was an appeal to American editors to use their power to end war.

Mr. Wellman says that in this letter the President sounded the same note he struck when, gazing with misty eyes on the coffins of the American dead borne back from the battlefields of Europe, he exclaimed: "It must not be again."

At the close of a man's life he is inclined to ponder upon the things that are worth while. Mr. Harding was rather a sober-minded Christian gentleman and it is not strange that his last thoughts were occupied with the most important question of the whole world.

Nothing so affects the welfare of the people as war. War when it comes is the worst of evils, and war in its continual menace is almost as bad. We have just emerged from the worst war of history. A formidable effort was made to arrange the world so that such a calamity should not come again. That effort, however, was blocked by selfishness and partisanship. In the moral slump after the war, the world sank back into the same order it had before the war. Every effort to establish some kind of international organization to prevent another conflict has been defeated by the reactionary and the politician.

All that prevents another war now is a lack of funds. Europe would be in a war before the end of the week, if it had money enough.

This is the fault of nobody in particular. It is the fault of the system under which the world is organized. It is a system that automatically produces war. And that there will be another war within twenty years is about as certain as any human event can be.

The League of Nations was at least an attempt to change the order. Perhaps it is unwise. That is not the question. The question is what other thing has anyone to propose.

Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said the other day: "The menace of the next war overshadows all other issues that confront us. The achievements of centuries of human progress will be swept away by the red tide of another ghastly world conflict, if the workers do not exert their political power to banish forever this scourge of mankind."

This statement of a great labor leader and the solemn warning of a dead President are to be commended to the consideration of the American people.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHO WON THE WAR?

[New York Commercial]

As soon as the armistice was declared the question was raised as to who won the war? America coming in at the last felt that she had done so. Great Britain, after four years of struggle felt that, but for her and her navy the war would have been lost. France, bled white, but fighting on, knew that without her Germany would have won. Italy, with her glorious stand on the Piave felt that hers was the decisive battle. The truth is that they all won the war in the military sense—for without any one of the others would have failed.

But is the war yet won? Germany was subjected to military defeat, but she has steadily refused to pay the penalty. She is willing to undergo anything sooner than pay—even revolution. France, realizing this, holds grimly to her determination to force payment at any cost. It was France that was devastated and not Germany. France has already paid more in reparations than Germany has, and feels that if she lets go she will be compelled to pay all. Then Germany will have won the war.

Great Britain, who suffered no devastation, looks at the proposition from the cold business standpoint. She is in need of Germany's trade, the lack of which is responsible for her unemployment problem.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There must be conceded to be something in human nature that craves the spectacle of brutality. Otherwise there could be no such events as that in which Dempsey and Firpo recently participated. It is a quality left over from the days of absolute savagery; the display of it represents reversion to type; and contemplation of the type does not stir the pride.

The outcome of a fight between these two had no more intrinsic importance than the winning or losing of a scrap between newsboys in the alley. Dempsey won, but only after the closest shave. In the beginning Firpo appeared to be too much for him. Some observers even declare that the victory should have gone to the South American on a foul.

When civilization gets too perky it should take a look at itself and see how a mob at the ringside proves the thinness of the veneer. Joy over a jolt in the region of the heart; shrieks of delight upon a glimpse of blood; frenzied ululations at the moment one fighter is knocked helpless and inert. Having had the look, civilization may acquire modesty as to itself, and a new respect for the beasts of the jungle, who have an excuse for claw and fang.

An Oklahoma Indian has been robbed of $178,000 by his white neighbors. The reason they took no more was that he seemed to have nothing left but a blanket. Deposits of lead and zinc on his land had been the source of his wealth. Happily the government stepped in and shooed the robbers off, but so far as recorded, none of the bunch is yet in jail.

Robbery of the individual Indian clearly is wrong. It is not to be made justifiable by the instances that could be cited of robbing Indians by tribes.

A writer of "popular" songs has been sued for divorce. The wife seems to have an excellent case, although she does not make the allegation that the songs were tried on her.

The average "popular" song is wholly lacking in merit. It is without sense, rythm, melody, or other redeeming quailty. That it becomes popular is a saddening blow to hopeful folk who would be glad to believe human intelligence to be tending towards a higher plane.

Three men appear at a roadhouse, pump the proprietor full of lead, and vanish. The chances are that they will not continue in retirement, having strewn with clews the scene of their violent action.

Just how great a social loss is involved in the killing of a roadhouse keeper need not be figured out. Nobody had any license to kill him. To apprehend the slayers, and hang them in a row would be the nicest possible climax to the episode.

* * *

The courts have decided that 10 per cent of a month's salary is enough for a teacher to pay an employment agent for a job. So it is. So would any less rakeoff be too much. If the teacher would hunt his or her own job there would be no occasion for dividing.

English courts have acquitted the woman who shot and killed her husband, the latter being a punk variety of Egyptian prince.

There is enough confidence in English courts to create the belief that the prince merely "got his" as the saying is. Homicide in England is a dangerous operation to all concerned. When it is deemed justifiable, it places a pretty deep brand on the character of the departed.

Yellow River Can Be Muzzled

The Yellow river, "China's Sorrow," can be "muzzled" by modern engineering methods, said John R. Freeman, chief consulting engineer of the Grand Canal Conservancy in China, in addressing the sixth joint convention of the Science Society of China and the Chinese Engineering society at Brown university at Providence.

"There are grounds for hope that even the Yellow river can be kept within its banks, trained to flow on a straighter course, quickened in its flow and made to deliver its silt to the sea, with no further outbreaks like those of 1852, 1887 and 1921, which in their turn have caused far more of widespread suffering and death than the recent earthquakes in Japan.

"China's hope for development in the future lies with the civil rather than the military engineer," said Mr. Freeman. "Some of the most important engineering problems of the world are presented in China. Problems of flood control, of famine relief, of reforesting, of transportation, and of relief from pestilence.

"I have studied this matter of protection against flood in China and I profoundly believe that it is feasible to prevent in a large measure the outbreaks that now periodically devastate 10,000 square miles."

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

TELLING JOKES

Children love to tell jokes. Their sense of humor is very crude and it takes very little to make them laugh. Which is a very good thing when you consider it. Children haven't as much laughter in their lives as they ought to have. In spite of all the poets say about the joys of childhood children have lots of trouble. The poets have the lovely gift of covering pain with beauty. We are grateful but we understand too.

So one must have a bit of patience with the children's jokes and encourage them to tell them after dinner as they eat a leisurely dessert. Says Esther, "Listen. I made up a good one. If you plant buttons in the garden and go back the next year what will you find?"

"Nothing," says practical Bill.

"Hooks and eyes," says Molly.

"Nope," says Esther. "Give up?"

"Yes."

"Buttonholes. Ha, ha!" chortles the joker.

"Guess mine," says Bill. "If a bee crosses the state road today what will he get?"

"What will he get? On the state road? Nothing."

"I'll help you some. It will be on his neck."

"That's silly. He'll get an automobile on his neck and he won't be a bee," giggles Esther.

"Nope," says Bill solemnly. "He'll get nec-tar."

Everybody laughs and Molly says, "My turn. Answer me this. If a thing with two wheels is a bicycle what do you call the thing with one wheel?"

"Mono—never hear of a thing with one wheel."

"Give up? Bet you can't guess. Wheelbarrow!" squeels Molly clapping her hands in applause of her own brilliancy.

"I have one," says grandpa gravely. Answer me this: "Why won't Bill keep wood on the fire?"

They looked from one to the other. No light came. He was too lazy of course, but that couldn't be the answer.

"Give up? 'Cause he's afraid the dogs would bite him."

"Ha, ha," laughs everybody, Bill the loudest.

Now their silly riddles may annoy you, but if you stop to think how much good the searching for the jokes and the telling of it and the laughing at it and the good fellowship of it brings to them you'll be able to stand it once in a while. You'll even find yourself laughing.

NAKED NATIVES SPOIL SCENERY SAYS TRAVELER

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated, according to a statement made here recently by Mrs. Whitney Sperry, San Francisco society woman and globe trotter, who has just returned from a 75,000-mile jaunt including a tour of the Orient, the South Seas and the Antipodes.

Mrs. Sperry said she visited the South Sea Islands expecting to find a land of dreams and romance. "I found beautiful scenery ruined by fat, half-naked men and women," she continued. "There was every sort of mixture of race and drink. Prices were three times higher than they should have been. The place was full of half-dressed artists who have 'gone brown,' and everything I ate gave me indigestion. The food was responsible. The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated."

In Java, Mrs. Sperry said, husbands may be plucked from the trees, bushes and the road side. These are not human wrecks or doddering derelicts, but fine, handsome and charming men from Holland who go to Java to make their fortunes.

"The heat is so intense that most women refuse to live there," Mrs. Sperry went on to say, "so the only alternative these men have, if they wish to exchange single blessedness for harnessed cussedness, is to marry the native women. So you see what a golden opportunity there is for single white women.

"In Hongkong I met many American and English women stranded without a cent, whose real reason for going to China was to get married. Most of them were more than thirty years old and more or less unattractive. They had heard, incorrectly, that there were so many more English and American men than women in China. Once there they couldn't return. Java should have been their goal."

Mrs. Sperry entertains a bitter and hearty grudge against those writers who have painted glowing word pictures of the South Seas and the maidens thereof. She says: "I received the biggest disappointment of my life when I landed in the South Sea Islands. The scenery is beautiful, yes, but nothing startling. Java is more beautiful. And those beauteous maidens one hears of, they are fat, nearly all of them, and sloppy. Voluptuous, yes, but oh, so broad! There are derelicts of every race and nation, gone to seed. Of course there is quite a colony of writers and artists, but even a large number of these have gone to seed. What struck me particularly was the number of white men, educated and cultured, many of them successful writers and painters, who have married the native women."

A man never realizes the goodness of his neighbors until he is sick.

MANY SWEDES TURNED TO U. S. BY HARD TIMES

[By Associated Press]

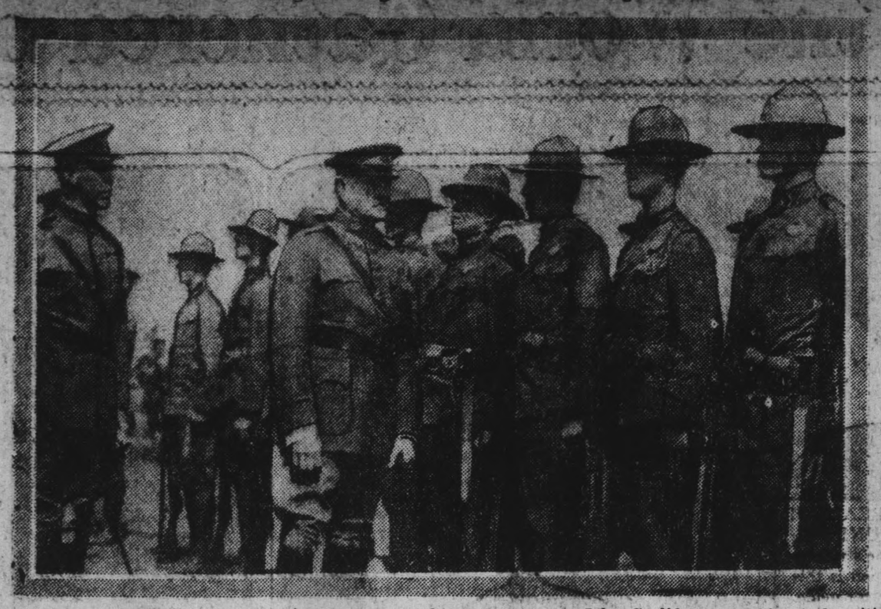
STOCKHOLM, Sept. 19.—The influence of hard times on Swedish emigration to the United States is illustrated by recent reports from Swedish iron and steel works, and from L. W. Fagerlund, governor of the Aaland islands.

The recent labor conflict caused a number of workers to leave their homes for America, attracted by the reports of industrial prosperity in that country. It appears that most of these emigrants were skilled workers.

Governor Fagerlund says that 548 Aalanders left for America during the first six months of this year. He has made a study of the causes of this exodus and has arrived at some interesting deductions. One category, he states, consists of young men who wish to perfect themselves in the latest working methods of their trade or profession, intending ultimately to return to the home country. Another group includes masons and construction workers who hope for steady employment in America. Others go out in the hope of earning enough money to pay off the debt on their family homesteads. Some are younger sons of farming families who are tired of working at home for almost no pay.

Unfortunately, the governor states, very few return to their native soil, and of those who do come back many cannot adapt themselves to home conditions and finally turn again to America. This seems to be the case especially with the women, who find work on the home farms too strenuous after having become used to lighter kinds of work in America.

General Pershing Talking with President Coolidge's Soldier Son



During a review at Camp Devens, General Pershing spied young John Coolidge, a rookie at the citizens' training camp, in the front rank. Stepping up to the youngster, the general asked him how he liked the life of a soldier. The president's son said he was not only satisfied but pleased with army life.

"OUR NATION, ITS GREATNESS AND ITS PERILS"

"Our Nation—Its Greatness and Its Perils," was the subject discussed Sunday at the Broadway Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. L. J. Millikan. The speaker stated at the beginning of his sermon that he was happy to respond to the request of the American Bar association that a special effort be put forth today in every pulpit in America to inspire more loyalty to the Constitution of the United States. Quoting Proverbs 14:34 and Nehemiah 4:14, he said in part: "The first part of the text is a great and bold declaration, and the last is a wonderful exhortation, pulsating with true patriotism and loyalty, and was uttered at a time when the Jewish nation and the cause of God were in dire peril. The great prophet Nehemiah was ready to give up every drop of his blood in defense of these causes. There can be no mistake that there are times when it is necessary to fight.

Ours is truly the greatest country in all the world; we are great in everything that counts. Claim has been made by those opposed to a progressive church program that we are over-churched, but such is far from the case; by a careful survey we are informed that our present church capacity will accommodate less than 50 per cent of the people. Why try to limit its usefulness when it was instituted by Jesus upon the earth?

Upon what did He institute the church? Was it upon Peter's confession? No, it was upon Peter's answer to the Master's question: "Whom say ye that I am?" Peter's answer was "Thou are the Christ—the Son of the Living God," That reply was the "Rock" upon which the church of God was built, for Jesus said so.

There are those today who ridicule the virgin birth of our Savior, but if there was no virgin birth then we have no Christ. Such teaching is infamy, and one of the perils of our nation, for no nation will ever rise above its religion. The reason why Japan has recently shot up like a century plant among nations is because she has opened her doors to the gospel. China is about to follow Japan's example. Today Brazil is shining forth as a bright light due to her acceptance of the true gospel, and throwing off the yoke of religious slavery. We see a great need for education, and for men of more learning, but no one can claim to be educated until he has a knowledge of the Bible, and its teachings. We are proud of the Eighteenth amendment, for it has forever put its disapproval of the murder-mill called the saloon. We still have the bootlegger with us, but he and his patrons are just alike—all common enemies to our constitution.

An officer should feel himself guilty and forever disgraced when he fails to do his very best in the enforcement of our laws. The greatest peril that confronts us as a nation today is the disregard for our constitution on the part of law breakers and their sympathizers, together with the laxness on the part of so many of our enforcement officers. Unless there is a very decided improvement, we will surely see troubulous times. Your personal liberty, and my personal liberty, should always be to the greatest good of the most people and never will a good citizen disregard the constitution, nor ignore that for which it stands. To ignore state or national law is to ignore God's holy and divine law.

WASHINGTON MEMORIAL

Shooters Hill, in Alexandria, Va., the site of the $4,000,000 George Washington Masonic Memorial, was once the property of the first president of the United States. This land was proposed by Jefferson and Adams for the site of the national capital, but Washington objected to the plan because he owned the property. The memorial, the cornerstone of which will be laid amid impressive ceremonies on Thursday, November 1, 1923, will be the most wonderful monument ever erected in honor of any man. It will be a shrine for the Masonic Brotherhood of all nations.

Eliminate the swear words from the English language and a lot of men would be unable to derive any satisfaction from getting angry.

TONSILLAR IRITIS

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE
Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

From time to time I have called attention to the part occasionally played by dental abscesses and disease of the sinuses of the face in causing serious eye conditions. Now comes a reminder, through a letter written to the Journal of the American Medical association by a Georgia physician, that tonsillar infections may also have a grave effect on the eyes.

The physician, Dr. Richard M. Nelson, of Atlanta, was once consulted by a young woman afflicted with a corneal ulcer of the right eye, complicated by a severe iritis. For three weeks the usual methods of treatment were tried, without appreciable improvement.

Meantime, aware that his patient was also suffering from a chronic inflammation of the tonsils, Dr. Nelson had strongly urged upon her the desirability of their removal. To this she now consented, with the following result:

"Within twenty-four hours the pain, the photophobia (sensitiveness to light), and the ciliary congestion were all greatly lessened; and within a week practically all evidence of both corneal ulcer and iritis were gone."

More recently a boy of 15 visited Dr. Nelson, to be treated for an unusually severe acute iritis.

Unlike the previous patient, who had had recurrent eye trouble for several years, this boy had been quite free from eye symptoms of any sort until the attack that sent him to the eye specialist. But he had been greatly troubled in another way, giving a history of repeated attacks of tonsillitis followed by rheumatism. He had rejected all advice to have his tonsils removed as a preventive of both the recurrent tonsillitis and the rheumatism.

Now, mindful of his experience with the other iritis patient, and again finding the usual anti-iritis treatment ineffective, Dr. Nelson successfully urged the boy to submit to an operation for the removal not only of the tonsils but of some infected adenoid tissue.

"By the next day," he reports, "all the eye symptoms had vanished. All local eye treatment and internal medication had been stopped the night before the operation and were never resumed."

There follows the significant note:

"From all reports received, both of these patients have enjoyed excellent health in every way to the present time, June 6, 1923."

Bearing in mind that iritis is an eye disorder frequently of puzzling causation, it obviously is important for physicians in general not to overlook the possibility of its tonsillar origin in cases uncommonly resistive to treatment. That is why I gladly give additional publicity to Dr. Nelson's letter to the medical periodical.

MUSICIANS DO NOT CHORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 (United Press).—When two musicians met it does not necessarily mean there will be harmony, it may be discord.

In the case of Mrs. Kenneth A. Purnell she complained that was all that was pertaining to music in her home—discords. She was a music teacher as was her spouse. She declared he was cruel and miserly and that all he used his sweet voice around her for was to swear at her. She was granted a decree and restoration of her maiden name.

It requires all the praise a political candidate gets from his own party to balance the censure he gets from the opposition.

Through a Sieve Woven Finer Than Silk

Raw materials of which portland cement is made come out of the ground usually as solid rock.

They must first be crushed, ground and reground until at least 85 per cent of the resulting powder will shake through a sieve that will actually hold water.

This sieve is considerably finer than the finest silk fabric. It has 200 hair-like bronze wires to the inch. That means 40,000 holes to the square inch.

But the several crushings and grindings necessary to reduce solid rock to this extreme fineness are only the beginning of cement making.

The powdered materials must then be subjected to intense heat for several hours in huge rotary kilns. Here they are half melted and become a substance much harder than the original rock—clinker, it is called.

Then the clinker must be crushed and ground until at least 78 per cent of the resulting product will pass through the sieve woven finer than silk. This is portland cement.

More than 80 power and fuel consuming operations are necessary in cement making. The electric power alone used in producing a barrel of portland cement would, if purchased at usual household rates, cost $1.70.

Few manufactured products go through so involved or complicated a process as portland cement. And it sells for less per pound than any comparable manufactured product.

GLENDALE SHOULD WIN PENNANT, SAYS WEST

Dynamiters Have Best Chance, Is Opinion of Their Captain

"With the material we've got, we certainly ought to win the pennant this year," says Ronald West, captain of the Glendale High School football team for this season. From all indications, it seem that West is right. The Dynamiters have all kinds of material, experienced and tried. They have a coach who has demonstrated his worth.

For more than a week the football team has been going through preliminary exercises, getting ready for the coming season. Friday they will have their first game. Coach Hayhurst will take his entire team up to Van Nuys on that date to mix with the valley high school nine. Reports that the contest is with San Fernando High school were yesterday corrected by Hayhurst, who announces Van Nuys as the scene of the struggle.

Little is known of the Van Nuys aggregation, and they may spring a surprise on Glendale. The local men will have their first chance to demonstrate their ability on the field of combat at that time. They are all experienced, and it will only be a question of getting back into the harness.

It is expected that some of the new men, who have never been in the Glendale line up before, will be used in the first game. Changes in the black and red line up during the game will be numerous, due to the desire of the coach to give all the men a chance to show their worth.

It is reported that Hayhurst is able to sleep nights now. He has found a center. Zaun, who has had considerable experience at the pivot position, is showing up nicely, and promises to fill the only berth that has caused the coach to worry.

More backfielders than linemen are out, but it is expected that by the time the practice is well under way, some of the surplus backfielders will be shifted to places on the line.

Paul Butterfield, coach of the lightweighs, reports that his men will be in the pink of condition when they take on the Van Nuys midgets Friday. The game will be played on the local field. The baby Dynamiters are prancing around the field every afternoon, and are getting on to the game in rapid order.

LOS ANGELES DOG SHOW ENTRIES ARE CLOSED

Will Be One of Largest Exhibitions of Blue Bloods Held

Entries for the second annual dog show of the Hollywood Kennel club, 6101 Sunset boulevard, closed today and, according to Claude Hill, show secretary, it will be one of the largest exhibitions of bluebloods ever held in Southern California.

Sixty classes, from bloodhounds to Chihuahuas, including St. Bernards, Great Danes, Russian wolfhounds, greyhounds, Eskimo, foxhounds, pointers, English setters, Gordon setters, Irish setters, retrievers, wire-haired pointing griffons, Chesapeake bay dogs, Irish water spaniels, Springer spaniels, field spaniels, cocker spaniels, beagles, dachshunds, whippets, collies, Belgian sheepdogs, shepherds, old English sheepdogs, poodles, chowchows, dalmatians, samoyedes, doberman pinschers, bulldogs, airedale terriers, bull terriers, French bulldogs, Boston terriers, fox terriers, sealyhams, Irish terriers, Scottish terriers, West Highland white terriers, cairn terriers, Welsh terriers, schipperkes, Mexican hairless dogs, pomeranians, English toy spaniels, Japanese spaniels, Pekingese, pugs, toy poodles, Yorkshire terriers, maltese, toy terriers, maltese, toy terriers, Brussels griffons and Italian greyhounds, have been entered.

In the 60 classes there are entries from puppies to teams, making 1020 events to be judged under the American Kennel club rules during the two-day show.

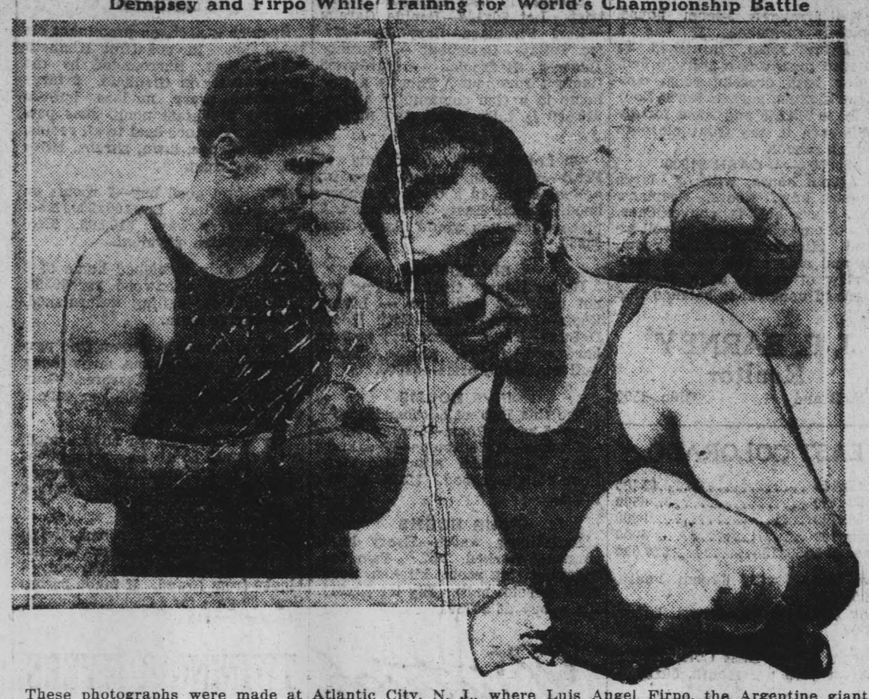
Marking the first show of the fall season, fashionable society of Southern California have entered their kennels in the Hollywood club events, where some of the best canine stock in the country will vie for honors.

WILL YOU GO HUNTING IN THIRTY YEARS?

Whether the average man can afford to go hunting thirty years from now will depend largely upon the means he takes in the meantime to preserve his shooting rights, the possession of the game by the state instead of by the individual, and the progress that is made in semi-artificial game production.

Few men are able to appreciate the humor of a practical joke that comes at them point first.

Dempsey and Firpo While Training for World's Championship Battle



These photographs were made at Atlantic City, N. J., where Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine giant, prepared for the bout on September 14, and Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where Champion Jack Dempsey pitched his training camp. Both are excellent likenesses of the fighters and give a good idea of the development of the arm muscles.

CLAIM CITRUS LEMONS STRONG

Citrus Union, ancient enemy of Glendale high school, is favored by many Los Angeles scribes to run off with the Central League bacon. Sixty letter men are out for the lemon grid squad, seven of them letter men of last season. Among these are Musson, (Capt.) tackle; Washburn, end; Green, center; Ray, Scheeler, Hawes, Schiffer, Stollar and Randolph.

The Central League schedule for the Lemons will open on October 17. Before that they have practice games with schools in other leagues. Whether they can beat Coach Hayhurst's Glendale Dynamiters is a question. They do not stack up as well on paper as does the local squad, and when the two meet there will be a real basis for comparison.

GIVE THE GAME A CHANCE

The solution to the game supply problem, as we see it, must start right out in the fields. Once the birds are given an equal chance against their enemies, then we can begin looking for real results from restocking operations and refuge systems which our state departments have so carefully developed.

PLAN ATHLETICS AT NIGHT SCHOOL

Community Service Director Tucker and Coach Normal C. Hayhurst of the high school are completing plans for the basketball and volley ball league to be formed in the Evening High school which opens next week. The games will be staged in the high school gymnasium in the evenings.

Teams from stores, factories and business houses, churches, clubs and schools will be welcomed as members of the various leagues. The number of leagues to be formed will depend upon the number of teams that enter the field.

Volley ball and basket ball will be the first sports, others will follow later. Hayhurst will be in charge of the work, while Tucker will help him line up the games. Teams or individuals desiring to enter into the work should get in touch with Coach Hayhurst at the high school or Mr. Tucker at the Chamber of Commerce.

BRITISH BLAME U. S. FOR THEIR BOXING DECLINE

Say Tex Rickard Did It All by Offering Such Heavy Purses

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (United Press).—British sport writers are blaming American promoters and fighters for the rather low estate into which English and European boxing has descended.

It is frankly admitted on the other side that England has very little to boast of since the demise of Jimmy Wilde as the world's flyweight champion.

Comment printed in London on the outcome of the Dundee-Criqui featherweight championship fight was rather surprising to fight fans on this side.

Inasmuch as Criqui was virtually black-jacked into the Dundee match before he had been able to make any capital out of his victory over Johnny Kilbane and before he had an opportunity to show France what the first world's champion looked like, it was thought that some objection would be voiced.

The result of the fight, however, was accepted with complacance.

"Dundee's victory over Criqui," Sporting Life (London) said, "merely emphasizes the poor quality of our own featherweights. True, Joe Fox, the British champion, was far superior in the science of boxing than the Frenchman when they met fourteen months ago, but the fact remains that he fell a victim to Criqui's deadly right and was beaten in the twelfth round. There is no one here to beat Criqui and yet Dundee was able to dispose of the Frenchman in the same manner that our champion would outclass a second-rater."

Tex Rickard is held responsible for the decline in British boxing, in the opinion of several writers. They point out that in offering such huge purses he increased the avarice of European boxers as well as American fighters and he brought about conditions whereby all the European boxers refuse to work for nominal purses on the other side, and dash to America for big money.

It is news to Americans to learn from these same writers that Rickard has ruined boxing in the United States. The London papers told their readers that American fight fans had rebelled against Rickard and the other big promoters and were refusing to pay big prices for tickets.

Rickard will thrive on all the rebellion that has been raised against him.

The fans on the other side would have a different idea of the rebellion if they could see the list of receipts of the big fights staged here this summer.

Some precedent may have been established by legal action taken recently in London by an owner against a jockey for damages resulting from a fall in which the horse was killed.

Charging the negligent riding of Michael Beary caused the death of a racing mare, Ironore, at the Kempton race meeting in May, H. J. Boam, the owner, brought suit for damages and he was given a judgment of 315 pounds.

RONALD WEST

Captain of the Glendale High School Football Team for this year.

NEW YORK FED UP ON RING BATTLES FOR THIS SEASON

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (United Press)—Once prosperous and thriving, the fist firm of Leiner and Carrora has been dissolved. The parting of the ways for the two enterprising young business men came in the announcement from Promoter Jimmy Johnston that the Leonard-Dundee fight, which he postponed from September 5 to September 28, had been called off for good.

Customers were so few in buying tickets for the ninth meeting between the ring merchants that the contract had to be torn up. Neither one of the business men wanted to work unless there were plenty of customers there.

New York apparently has become fed up on championship fights this summer and as another Leonard-Dundee meeting offered no novelty, the customers stayed away.

Johnston said he might match the pair next summer when the customers may have forgotten that the firm has been in business so long.

When two fighters with such immense personal followings as Leonard and Dundee failed to arouse interest in this season, it is not likely that they will be a card in the future.

The Dempsey-Firpo fight practically wound up the greatest season of boxing in New York in the history of sport and it is probable that there will never be another like it.

It is a dead cinch that there will be no boxing in the ball parks here next summer. The club owners of the major leagues are peeved at the slump in business caused by the great interest in boxing and it is almost a certainty that they will decide in session this winter that baseball parks should be for baseball alone.

The fans also have not taken kindly to boxing in the ball parks. So much disorder and confusion resulted during the Dempsey-Firpo fight that customers in he future will not pay fancy prices for seats from which they cannot see the ring. Hundreds of spectators at the recent heavyweight fight did not see the battle and had to ask when it had finished, who had won.

Tex Rickard knows well that boxing is finished in the ball parks and he has said all along that he did not believe the parks were the proper places in which to handle huge crowds.

Revenge as contemplated may be sweet, but it is always more or less bitter when realized.

VERNON TRIMS PORTLAND DUCKS

Bees Sting Angels, Seals Beat Sacs, Seattle Trounces Oaks

Vernon took the opening pastime of the series from Portland yesterday. 7 to 2 was the tune to which the Tigers broke their long losing streak. Kit Carson, on the mound for Vernon, did fairly well, allowing only ten hits. It was the work of his teammates, however, that kept these ten hits from meaning more than two runs.

In the first frame the Ducks started off in great style, scoring one run with two hits. But the Portlanders thought that one early spurt meant a sure win. They were mistaken. Although they got nine more hits, they only scored once more during the encounter. That was in the seventh inning.

In the first three innings the Tigers brought in seven runs, putting he contest on the proverbial ice. Two in the first, three in the second, and two in the third was the manner in which the Tigers won the game. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Portland	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	— 2
Base hits	2	2	1	0	1	0	2	1	1	—10
Vernon	2	2	1	0	1	0	2	1	x	—.7
Base hits	1	3	2	1	0	0	1	2	x	—10

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—The Bees beat the Angels in the opening game of the series 12 to 8. Leslie established a new Coast League record for two-baggers, hitting his sixty-eighth.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Los Angeles	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	2	3	— 8
Salt Lake	0	2	0	5	0	0	2	3	x	—12

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 19.—The Solons outplayed the Seals, but the Seals outlucked the Solons and San Francisco took the opening game of the series today by a count of 7 to 3.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
San Francisco	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	4	0	— 7
Base hits	4	0	0	2	1	0	0	4	0	—11
Sacramento	1	0	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	— 4
Base hits	3	1	2	1	1	0	2	0	1	—11

OAKLAND, Sept. 19.—Backing up Gregg's airtight hurling with hefty stick work, Seattle defeated Oakland, 8 to 1, here today and shunted the Oaks back into seventh place again.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Seattle	2	0	0	0	3	0	0	2	1	— 8
Base hits	3	2	1	0	4	1	1	4	1	—17
Oakland	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	— 1

SPORT-O-GRAMS

(By Francis Wilkerson Read)

CARPENTIER DESIRES TO MEET GIBBONS

Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight who was downed by Jack Dempsey in 1921, has sent a cablegram to Tex Rickard, New York fight promoter, announcing that he is desirous of meeting Tommy Gibbons, who was defeated by the champion in a 15-round decision bout on July 4th. Carpentier states that he willing to sign up for a 15-round scrap in Madison Square Garden, New York. Rickard has written to Tommy Gibbons to see whether he is willing to fight the Frenchman.

A bout between the two fighters would prove a popular one, and the fans would get a real scrap for their money. Gibbons and Carpentire are both good fighters. They can box, are quick on their feet, and clever. They are both lighter than either Dempsey and Firpo, and neither of them is capable of delivering the punches that the champion can.

Tommy and the Frenchman are about evenly matched. Carpentier was knocked out when he met the champ in 1921, while Gibbons lasted for fifteen rounds, but Dempsey did not fight as he should have when he met Gibbons at Shelby. Many said that he had lost his stride, that he was not the Dempsey of old. In the light of the recent title match with Firpo, it would seem that the champion did not put up the fight against Gibbons that he should have. The fact, then, that Carpentier was knocked out by the champion while Gibbons stayed for fifteen rounds does not mean that Gibbons has very heavy odds in his favor in case of a match with the Frenchman.

The two scrappers are both popular with the fans. Both were idolized by the fans before and even after meeting defeat at the hands of Champion Jack. A bout between them would be an interesting affair, and would meet with hearty approval with the fans from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

FIRPO WANTS TO WAIT.

Luis Angel Firpo, who was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in the second round of their battle at New York last Friday, has now announced that he is desirous of waiting at least a year before he meets Harry Wills, colored fighter. Wills and his manager had just come to the decision that they would seek a bout with the South American before attempting to take on the champion, and signed with Rickard for a battle with Firpo, when the Wild Bull of the Pampas reached the conclusion that he should wait at least a year before seeking another bout. The contract as to the fight is very indefinite, no time being mentioned for the bout.

Firpo will have a much better chance to beat the colored fighter if he waits another year. He would have stood a better chance against Dempsey, perhaps would have beaten him, had he waited a year longer. He said that he entered the fight against his better judgment. Perhaps if he had waited a year, it would have been a different story Friday night. With more training and headwork behind his blows, Firpo would prove a much more formidable opponent for any fighter.

It would seem that Wills should take a crack at Dempsey in the meantime. Before the Firpo bout, he was anxious to meet the champ. So anxious, indeed, that he attempted legal means to force Jack to meet him before fighting Firpo. Now that Firpo is out of the way, and wants to wait a year before another bout, it would seem that Wills should take the chance he was so anxious for and mix with William Harrison Dempsey, heavy weight champion ofthe world.

GIBBONS AND FIRPO

Among the numerous matches reported in the air is one between Tommy Gibbons and Luis Firpo. Tommy is reported to have said that he is more than willing to meet Firpo if it will help him get another crack at the title. Although no attempts have been made to secure such a match, it would seem that a little comment upon it at this time is not out of place.

Gibbons and Firpo would not make such a scrap as would some other combinations. They are not in the same class. Firpo outweighed Dempsey by 30 pounds, while Dempsey had more than 20 pounds over Gibbons. There is 50 pounds difference between the two men. Fifty pounds means a lot in a big fight, and Gibbons would be at a great disadvantage with an opponent half a hundred pounds heavier than he.

Firpo is an aggressive type of a fighter, while Gibbons fights on the defensive most of the time. Tommy has not the force behind his blows to floor the Argentine, and all he could do would be fight fifteen rounds to a decision, or perhaps a draw.

Gibbons would hardly be able to stand up under the blows the Bull of the Pampas would deliver to him. His only hope would be his speed and adroitness at dodging the Argentine's blows.

Although such a match might be a profitable financially, it is extremely doubtful. Firpo is far the better fighter of the two, and it is the opinion of the writer that he would make short work of Gibbons if he got in a couple of good hard blows.

FEMALE AQUATIC STARS SHINE IN PASADENA SWIM

Eight wonder swimmers of the female persuasion will compete in the second meet of the Pasadena Athletic Club tomorrow evening at Brookside Park. The contests open at 8 o'clock. There are nine events on the program, each one planned to have either a national, junior national or a Pacific Coast contestant, while some of them will have two and three.

Frances Cowles Schroth, star swimmer in the Olympic games, will journey from San Francisco to swim the 220-yard and the 50-yard. Viola Hartman and Mary Wheeler of the L. A. A. C., and Florence Chambers of San Diego will meet her in the 220, while Thelma Finn, Olive Hatch, Helen Vernon and Harriet Nielsen will uphold the honors in the 50-yard.

Charles Fletcher, who has recently established a world's record in the 220-yard breast stroke, will try a new one in the 100-yard. Duke Kahanamoku, Reggie Harrison and Buddy Smith will tangle in the 100-yard free style.

In the ladies' diving there will be a keen fight. Viola Hartman holds the junior national indoor championship, while Harriet Nielsen holds the same title in the outdoor. They will meet for the first time, while Carol Fletcher, who has rapidly won a place for herself, will be on hand with some very difficult dives. Janet Ford will represent the Ambassador Club.

Sport Briefs - By Wire

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Sept. 19.—golfers in the national amateur golf championship tournament at Flossmoor today caught tartars with the exception of Jass Sweetser of New York. Bobby Jones of Atlanta, open champion, managed to reach the half-way mark one up to T. B. Cochran of Wichita Falls, Texas, but he took eight strokes.

Chick Evans of Chicago, twice winner of the title, lost the fourth hole to Willie Hunter's birdie 3 and was unable to get the lead, stopping for luncheon one down to the former British champion. Francis Ouimet of Boston found his match and a trifle more in Anthony Haines of Rockford, Ills. Haines was one up at the end of 18 holes.

The course was slow today as a result of an overnight shower. Few of the scores could even approximate under 80, while a number ran well over that figure for the par 74 course.

H. A. B. Davis, of San Francisco, finished the morning round 2 up to George Blossom of Chicago. Von Elm in his round set a new record for the tournament by scoring 37-34-75 to be six up to Carter.

FLOSSMOOR, CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Jess Guilford, Boston, titleholder in 1921, was 2 up to Dexter Cummings, Chicago, intercollegiate champion, at the end of 18 holes of the second round.

Jess Sweetser, New York, finished the first 18 two up to Dave Herron, Chicago.

Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, was 2 up on Francis Ouimet of Boston at the end of 18 holes.

Ouimet was not playing any too well today, tossing away a number of shots and, having lost the second hole, was one down at the turn, going out with a mediocre forty. The Boston player slipped further on the second nine and was 3 down at the eighteenth tee, but he took the last hold of the morning session with a birdie four, while Hunter hooked his brassie second and scored a par five.

Joe Wells, Ohio champion, was 3 up to H. K. B. Davis, of San Francisco, at the end of the 18th hole.

EX-KAISER TOLD GERMANY DON'T WANT HIM BACK

By FERDINAND C. M. JAHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DOORN (By mail to United Press).—The ex-Kaiser has been told that scarcely anybody in Germany wants the Hohenzollerns back.

Former Minister Helfferich, who is now the leader of the conservative party in Germany, made this clear to him when he visited Doorn castle recently.

Until then Doorn castle had in many respects resembled the castle of the sleeping beauty. The inhabitants and visitors had made it the rule in their conversation with the ex-monarch not to touch any subjects which might hurt the ex-Kaiser's feelings. Therefore Wilhelm still believed that deep rooted in the German nation there still was a longing for his return, although this feeling was not reflected by the papers.

This spell was broken by Helfferich, who told Wilhelm that since his second wedlock he hardly had any followers left in Germany and that the nationalist movement, which was growing stronger and stronger in Germany, is in no ways accompanied by a resurrection of a monarchistic feeling in favor of the Hohenzollerns.

Since Helfferich's visit, Wilhelm shows signs of deep depression, although his physical health is perfect.

However, at least one of Germany's former reigning princes is glad to have lost his job. That is the Kaiser's son-in-law, the Duke Ernest August of Brunswick.

During his recent visit to Doorn the prince did not conceal his satisfaction with being rid of his boresome throne. He really enjoys the privacy of family life. Although the marriage with the Kaiser's only daughter, Victoria Louise, was in the origin not of a love-match but a marriage for state reasons, it has turned out a model wedlock. The ducal couple has been married for more than ten years, have five children and is still as happy as a pair of turtle doves.

Unlike most of his colleagues, who, with their crown, have lost the greatest part of their incomes, the loss of the throne hardly affected the Duke's revenues. Being a son of the wealthy Duke of Cumberland and related to the British royal family, Duke Ernst August still commands a nice round capital, which is based on solid English pounds.

Incidently, it may be mentioned, that the ex-Duke had a sort of premonition of his overthrow when he first came to Brunswick. Visiting the Brunswick castle for the first time, the young Duchess Victoria Louise remarked to her husband that the upholsterings on the furniture in some of the reception rooms were rather worn out and therefore ought to be replaced.

"Never mind," was the Duke's answer, "we are not going to stay here very long, anyhow." That was 1913.

Another "daughter of the famous" entered the motion picture industry when Miss Agnes de Mille, daughter of William de Mille, made her debut before the camera in "The Marriage Maker," the de Mille production now showing at the T. D. and L. theater.

While she has for some time been interested in motion pictures, Miss de Mille's entrance was somewhat sudden and unexpected. When her father sought six beautiful dancers for scenes in his picture, it was called to his attention by the casting department that dancers, in Los Angeles, were at a premium because Cecil B. De Mille, producing "The Ten Commandments," was using nearly three hundred of them and had scoured the entire city in an effort to get them. No dancers, stated the casting office, could be had until Cecil B. De Mille released those he had under contract.

When Miss de Mille heard her father mention the matter, she immediately volunteered to serve as one of the needed half dozen dancers. But not until she had pleaded at length did she succeed in persuading her father to let her act before the camera.

MORE GRIEF FOR THE NAVY

SANDWICH, Mass., Sept. 19.—The United States destroyer, McFarland, was rammed in the bow by the battleship Arkansas in maneuvers near the entrance of the Cape Cod canal here today.

The McFarland was engaged in maneuvers with twelve other destroyers, the battleships Florida and Arkansas and the training ship Antares.

SWEET ALICE CALHOUN AT THE GATEWAY

The usual Wednesday evening vaudeville at the Gateway tonight, "the better kind," comprising several acts of singing, dancing and novelties. The feature is "One Stolen Night," a story of brave deeds, strong lives, mystery, romance and advertising on the burning sands of the desert under a tropical sky, starring pretty Alice Calhoun, whose recent rise in favor with film enthusiasts has been simply phenomenal. She is sweet and wholesome in every situation and the supporting cast is unusually strong. The Gateway offers you in this bill an evening of solid enjoyment.

RUSSIA HARD TO GET INTO

[By Associated Press]

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Although the Soviet Government has announced that admission to Russia would be facilitated for the purpose of accommodating visitors to the commercial exposition in Moscow, Americans desiring to enter the Soviet republic still find it difficult to obtain permission from Moscow.

The Berlin embassy says it is unable to grant permission without communication with the central government in Moscow and delays are as prolonged as they were before the announcement of a change in policy.

BUSTER KEATON IN LAST SHOWING AT THE GLENDALE

At the Glendale Theater this afternoon and tonight will be the last showings of Buster Keaton's first feature production, the supercomedy achievement, "Three Ages," in which he is supported by the famous British beauty, Margaret Leahy, brought to America by Norma Talmadge, after she had won the beauty contest in competition with 80,000 English girls; Wallace Beery, the "worst" villain in the movies; Lillian Lawrenc, Joe Roberts, and "Cupid" Morgan. It is directed by Eddie Cline, under the supervision of Lou Anger.

As one critic says: "Buster's first long production is so skillfully made and cut that it contains only twenty-six titles. Many a comedy 'gets by' because it is well titled, but the new Keaton production does not depend upon words for laughs. . . . Jolts one into laughter. . . . There are sets for the Roman episodes, particularly the set for the chariot race, which seem to rival in size and impressiveness those used for 'Robin Hood.'"

Appointed to Annapolis by Mother, Height Rule Is Waived for 'Shorty' Huck

Wallace Mason (Shorty) Huck is the smallest student at the United States Naval academy. He is the son of former Congresswoman Winifred Mason Huck of Illinois, and when she appointed him he turned out to be the shortest plebe admitted to Annapolis.

A ROMANCE OF THE SAHARA

FOLLOW THE SEARCHLIGHT. ALWAYS A GOOD SHOW.

HE CAME IN HANDY

A New York society man was ciceroning a friend from Ohio through the social whirl at the height of the metropolitan season.

"Who is that very fine-looking young fellow talking to the the young woman in white?" queried the visitor.

"You mean that tall man, just handing her an ice?"

"Why," returned the New Yorker, in gravest tones, "that is Louis XIV."

"Don't take advantage of my social inexperience," laughed the westerner. "What do you mean?"

"Well," exclaimed the host, "his name is Louis, and he is always invited, when, without him, there would be thirteen at the table."

TRANSFERS

Do you know Glendale Inter-Urban Express
—That we are the oldest authorized freight and express carrier between Glendale and Los Angeles.
—That we deliver at your door quicker than any other carrier.
—That we have four trucks operating daily, with an investment of $13,000.
—That we are a Glendale concern, and not a Los Angeles transfer company.
—THEREFORE, we are deserving of your patronage.
—That we are equipped to handle any kind of hauling—both local and long distance.
—That we have a 14-passenger bus—just the thing for picnic parties.
